New Yorker Was Called At Hearing

Publisher Stricken As He Entered D. C. Committee Office

By WILLIAM F. ZEIDLER

WASHINGTON (INS)—A New York witness collapsed and died today shortly before he was to testify in the Senate's investigation of alleged labor publication "shakedown" activities.

Sidney Lewis, of New York City, succumbed as he entered the office of the Senate Rackets Committee. He was the victim of an apparent heart attack.

Accompanied By Lawyer

Lewis was accompanied at the time by his son-in-law, Joel M. Abels, and his attorney, Samuel R. Schneider, both of New York. Schneider told newsmen that Lewis, a publisher, had been called to testify at today's hearing. He said his client had been suffering from a heart condition.

Lewis' body was removed by the District of Columbia coroner. Today's hearing went ahead a half hour later and most persons in the hearing room were unaware of the death.

Lewis was identified by the committee as the publisher of the Labor Chronicle, for the Central Trades and Labor Council of Greater New York.

Robert Kennedy, chief counsel for the committee, refused to say what Lewis' relationship was to the activities under investigation. Neither his publication nor the trade and labor council had been mentioned in previous testimony.

Friends said that Lewis was in his 50's.

Swindle Charge Probed

WASHINGTON (INS)—Senate rackets probes called for testimony today on an alleged swindle of New York employers through sale of advertisements in a union-sponsored publication.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) of the special Senate committee, used the terms swindling and extortion Tuesday in referring to a similar practice in Pennsylvania. Employer witnesses from the Philadelphia area said they were asked to buy advertisements to show friendliness to labor unions.

The ads were sold in yearbook-type publications sponsored by the New York and Pennsylvania state federations of labor, but handled for the groups by Benjamin Lapenstien, a former official of Philadelphia Local 107 of the Teamsters Union.

Chief Counsel Robert F. Kennedy said the committee has evidence of "considerable misappropriation of funds that should have gone to the New York federation," but which he said were pocketed secretly by some individuals.

Dixie Flood Peril Rises

By The Associated Press

Rain-swollen streams and rivers menaced wide areas in four Southern states today, forcing hundreds of persons to leave their homes and causing extensive damage to crops and property.

More rain fell during the night in sections of West Virginia, southwest Virginia and eastern Kentucky, increasing the threat of further flooding. Overflows from the Red River spilled across sections of northwestern and north-central Louisiana. Damage to crops and property was estimated at 10 million dollars.

Two deaths were attributed to the floods in Louisiana.

Town's Business Booming By Union, Company Pact

MOUNT CARMEL, Ill. (AP)—Business is booming in Mount Carmel's main industrial plant and the town, to the jingle of a ton of silver dollars to be paid workers, is going to celebrate.

Union-management teamwork in the signing of a new long-term contract was cited by Eugene Powers, plant manager, as making possible expansion of the plant and increased production. He said he believes the contract is the first of its type negotiated between company and union.

"The contract gave us a stable basis for progress," Powers said. "We've been able to hire 250 new employees and add a whole new line of products."

Ike Appoints Flemming In Folsom Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—Marion Folsom resigned today as secretary of welfare, and President Eisenhower picked Arthur Flemming, president of Ohio Wesleyan University, to succeed him.

Folsom, 64, wrote Eisenhower he is leaving the cabinet for personal reasons which he did not specify. He will step down sometime between July 15 and Aug. 1.

Accepting Folsom's resignation, Eisenhower sent to the Senate a formal nomination of Flemming to be chief of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Flemming, 53, is a former director of the Office of Defense Mobilization and for many years was a member of the Civil Service Commission.

The White House said Tuesday that Folsom, former treasurer of the Eastman Kodak Co., who came to the administration in 1955, had informed Eisenhower of a desire to return to private life. Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said at that time no letter of resignation had been received from Folsom.

In a letter to Eisenhower dated Tuesday, Folsom reminded the President that "Last year I told you that for personal reasons it would be necessary for me to leave government service sometime this year."

Folsom at present is taking a rest in Florida, reportedly on orders from his physician. In reply to questions, Hagerty said he had no information regarding the state of Folsom's health.

Arabs Promised West Reich Loan

BONN, Germany (AP)—A United Arab Republic delegation flew home today with a West German promise of a 95-million-dollar credit to buy machinery.

A communique issued after four days of talks said the Germans are ready to increase investments and step up technical aid, particularly in ore exploitation and improvement of harbors and airfields in the union of Egypt and Syria.

Writer Overcame Heart Attack

PARIS (AP)—Rene Plevin goes before the National Assembly Friday to ask it to confirm him as France's 25th postwar premier.

Plevin told President Rene Coty Tuesday night he thought he had enough support to put a Cabinet together and get it accepted.

The contract with the company, Thordarson-Meissner Co., was signed last August and becomes effective May 14. "It was a simple renewal of the previous three-year contract," Powers said. "The union agreed to give up an opportunity for wage increases over the next five years on the company's promise to expand and keep everyone working."

When the contract was signed by the union, the International Assn. of Machinists, Local 2042, the plant employed 175 persons in the manufacture of electronic equipment. Today 405 are on the payroll.

Rain, Milder Weather Due

BALTIMORE (AP)—Five-day forecast: Temperatures will average around five degrees below normal. Warmer Thursday, Friday and Saturday and cooler Sunday or Monday. Rain in Eastern Maryland tomorrow morning and rain again Sunday or Monday will average 1/4 to 1/2 inch.

Normal highs 67-73. Normal lows 47-54 except low 40s in mountains.

Bank Robber Topples Over From Hunger

OROVILLE, Calif. (AP)—The man with the big blue eyes was robbing the bank.

Counting out the money was the teller with the pretty face, Mrs. Pat Thelander, 23.

One thousand...two thousand...nearly three thousand dollars she piled on the counter.

Suddenly the robber slid from sight. Mrs. Thelander stood on tiptoe and peered over the counter. There he was, slumped on the floor. His big blue eyes were closed.

He had fainted—from hunger. It happened in a branch of the Bank of America, the biggest bank in America.

In his pocket was no gun to back up his threatening robbery note. There was only 2 cents.

He said he was Timothy J. Mahoney, 49, an ex-Army sergeant. He had lost his job in a Feather River Canyon resort.

Police hauled him to the local Bastille. They fed him and he felt better.

They left him there for the FBI.

Plevin Will Try Again To Form New Cabinet

PARIS (AP)—Rene Plevin goes before the National Assembly Friday to ask it to confirm him as France's 25th postwar premier.

Plevin told President Rene Coty Tuesday night he thought he had enough support to put a Cabinet together and get it accepted.

On April 25, 1953, Relman (Pat) Morin, special correspondent for the Associated Press, who had covered most of the big ones in war and peace, was hit by a heart attack. He was convinced he was through.

On May 3, 1958, Pat Morin won a Pulitzer Prize for his coverage of the integration violence in Little Rock, Ark. It was one of the biggest, most complex, most emotional stories of the year and the decade. Also, one of the most strenuous.

Pat Morin's comeback was complete. The word is used advisedly for he had never been away, except in his own mind.

Three years ago, he recovered physically from his heart attack. After four months, he returned to his desk and to a warm welcome. But Pat was suspicious. He

House Group Urges Ike To Revamp Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic House leaders called on President Eisenhower today to compromise his demands for reciprocal trade extension or risk utter ruin for his trade program in Congress.

In the face of building pressures for erection of high tariff trade barriers, they gave the President until Monday to come up with suggestions which might soften opposition and give his proposals a realistic chance of passage.

Meanwhile the House Ways and Means Committee abruptly suspended further consideration of trade legislation until that time.

The committee, in a surprise action, broke off its efforts a few hours before President Eisenhower appealed Tuesday night for Republican congressional support for his trade policies.

While the President's words seemed unlikely to satisfy members of his own party who disagree violently with his proposals, they came at a critical time in the trade battle on Capitol Hill.

New Lockheed Pact Sighted

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Lockheed Aircraft Corp. and International Assn. of Machinists tentatively agreed on a new working contract early today.

The agreement came less than 24 hours before the midnight strike deadline.

The action raised hopes that a threatened strike by the Machinists and the United Auto Workers against Lockheed, Douglas Aircraft Co., North American Aviation, Inc., and Convair could be averted. A strike would involve 125,000 workers.

Eisenhower Will Refuse To Aid Foes

President Claims GOP Can Win But Hard Work Needed

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower says GOP prospects are bright and the party can win, if it works, in the November election. But he left himself free today to withhold his support from Republicans who do not back his program.

Teeing off the party's 1958 election campaign, Eisenhower said Tuesday night that, in a nutshell, the Republican case before America is "responsive, responsible government at home—plus effective support for programs essential to America's peace and security in this gravely menaced world."

He exhorted Democrats and Republicans alike to line up against what he termed the evil force of tyrannical Communist imperialism and "push through Congress his world trade, foreign aid and military reorganization plans."

In a new era of great uneasiness and "balanced terror in the world," he said, "our national survival and human liberty are at stake in the way we form and sustain our national policies."

The approaching decisions on the three key legislative items he named, he said, "demand our attention as Americans, without regard to partisanship" because they are of grave importance to the nation and world peace.

At a dinner honoring Republicans in Congress, Eisenhower wound up with this political forecast and promise: "If we will but try—if we will never forget the value of good, hard work—we are certain, with our record, to win next November. This is the sure road to a Republican 86th Congress."

"For myself—you will find me standing beside you and with you, I shall do my best for every member of our Grand Old Party and for all others who with them are carrying forward the never-ending fight for peace, for security, for sound, sane and progressive government in America."

The crowd cheered and applauded the President more than a score of times, even if it didn't rock the roof when he made some of his points.

Devoted To Legislation

Much of Eisenhower's speech, broadcast nationally by radio and television, was devoted to his legislative program, particularly his battle for Pentagon reorganization.

The pivotal fact of our time, he said, is that the science of destruction has become transformed in just over a decade. Man's ability to annihilate himself is now within his grasp. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Baby Improving As Blood Given By Court Order

ELGIN, Ill. (AP)—An infant, given a blood transfusion ordered by the court over the religious objections of his parents, was reported in satisfactory condition in a hospital today.

The 6-day-old son of Willard and Darlene Siems, members of Jehovah's Witnesses, was given the transfusion Sunday. Doctors had said the infant was born with a blood condition which could cause death or permanent brain damage.

The doctors told the Siems couple an immediate blood transfusion was necessary but they refused to grant permission, contending it violated God's law.

DiSalle, O'Neill Win In Ohio Vote Contest

Party candidates were tapped for a variety of offices in primary elections Tuesday in Ohio, Indiana and Alabama. There were no major upsets.

Gov. C. William O'Neill was nominated by the Republicans for another run in Ohio, while Democrats picked Michael DiSalle, who carried the party's banner in 1956 when he was defeated by O'Neill.

Indiana's House contests saw all 11 of the state's congressmen nominated for new terms.

In Alabama, Atty. Gen. John Patterson showed the way in a 14-man field seeking the Democratic nomination for governor. But he faces a runoff primary next month because of a failure to win by a majority. His opponent will be Judge George Wallace.

O'Neill won the Republican gubernatorial primary in Ohio over Charles P. Taft, a brother of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft.

Returns from 11,521 of the State's 12,499 polling places gave Taft, onetime Cincinnati mayor, 186,042 votes to 324,054 for O'Neill.

DiSalle led all the way to score an easy triumph in the seven-man Democratic primary. With 11,521 polling places reporting, he rolled up 226,580 votes to 107,125 for Cleveland Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze, his closest opponent.

Sen. John W. Bricker was nominated for another term without opposition in the GOP primary. The Democratic senatorial nominee, Stephen M. Young, likewise had no opposition.

Patterson held an 87,291 to 70,369 lead over Wallace on the basis of returns from 1,540 of Alabama's 3,261 precincts. Both men, like all others in the races, were pledged to continue segregated schools.

A sharp fight over a state Democratic loyalty oath was still in doubt in contests for election to the party's Executive Committee.

Soviet Veto Attempt To Be Resisted

Reds Will Not Be Able To Dictate On Summit Sessions

COPENHAGEN (AP)—The Western Big Three announced today they are willing to take some of their NATO partners into East-West summit talks.

By JOSEPH E. DYNAN

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP)—NATO's foreign ministers drafted a communique today saying no to a Kremlin bid to dictate the ground rules for a summit conference.

Stressing unity of the North Atlantic Powers, the communique is expected to express the determination of the United States, Britain and France to continue negotiations in Moscow for top-level talks.

But it also will make clear the West will resist any Soviet attempt to impose a veto on the issues to be discussed at the summit.

At a private meeting this morning, the ministers heard: 1. Foreign Minister Josef Luns of the Netherlands says Communists may be on the verge of seizing power in Indonesia.

2. U.S. Secretary of State Dulles outlines U.S. policy in releasing Egyptian funds frozen in the United States since President Nasser's seizure of the Suez Canal. The funds were released after Nasser's government agreed to compensate stockholders of the seized Suez Canal.

The 15 NATO foreign ministers went into the final chapter of their three-day session in full agreement that German reunification, disarmament, the status of East European Soviet satellites—all issues ruled out by the Kremlin—must be discussed if and when the world leaders meet.

Secretary of State Dulles won endorsement of his view that a top-level meeting would be useless without thorough preparation and some assurance of action on the essential causes of East-West tension.

The new harmony differed sharply from the tenor of last December's NATO meeting. At that time his European colleagues forced Dulles to concede the possibility of summit talks as the price for their okay on building U.S. nuclear bases on the Continent.

Not Sighted This Year

There was no longer any talk in NATO circles of a 1958 deadline for a summit parley. Most diplomats at the current meeting feel Moscow's tactics have killed chances of a get-together before next year. The feeling now is general that there is no rush to the summit, and the ministers agree that the West must quickly build

Bulldozer Runs Over Child But She Still Lives

TORONTO (AP)—A bulldozer ran over 2-year-old Shelly Brendon Tuesday night and she lived. She was in a serious condition with skull, leg, shoulder and arm fractures.

The bulldozer was being used for construction work at the suburban home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Brendon. Police said the child escaped instant death only because the earth was wet and soft.

MURDER WARRANTS were obtained by Coroner L. H. Chapman, who said tests by the state crime laboratory showed arsenic poison in the bodies of all four victims.

Mrs. Lyles—she resumed that name through a court order after Gabbert's death—operates a restaurant in downtown Macon.

Sheriff James I. Wood would not release information on a possible motive. He said he has "many facts which need verification before they can be released."

Young Widow Faces Trial In Poison Deaths Of Four

MACON, Ga. (AP)—A young widow faced murder charges today in the arsenic poisonings of her 9-year-old daughter, two husbands and mother-in-law over a six-year period.

Mrs. Annette Donovan Lyles, 32, was arrested in a hospital room Tuesday and placed under guard. She reportedly has been hospitalized since shortly after her daughter Marcia Elaine Lyles, died April 5.

Through her attorney, Mrs. Lyles said, "I have committed no crime."

In addition to the death of her daughter, Mrs. Lyles is accused of murdering her first husband, Ben F. Lyles Jr., Jan. 25, 1952; her second husband, Joe Neal Gabbert, Dec. 2, 1955; and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Ben F. Lyles Sr., Sept. 29, 1957.

Astronomer, Balloonist End Successful Flight

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—A balloon carrying an astronomer and a Navy balloon pilot landed near Dubuque, Iowa at 7:26 a. m. (CDT) today, ending a successful flight to a height of more than 40,000 feet.

An office of Naval Research spokesman in Minneapolis said the balloon landed eight miles southeast of Dubuque. He said the landing apparently was highly successful and that the tracking crew was on hand to assist.

First Test Of Technique

WASHINGTON (AP)—A balloon riding astronomer bent on learning what makes the stars twinkle was descending today from a frigid flight that took him to a height of 40,000 feet.

The ascent also provided the first test of a technique that someday will be used to record men's physical reactions in an orbiting satellite.

It was the first balloon ascension for the astronomer, Alfred H. Mikesell, 44-year-old father of eight children. With him was Cmdr. Malcolm D. Ross, a veteran Navy balloonist who rose to 84,000 feet last fall.

They were due to land somewhere near Dubuque, Iowa, after a slow, measured descent that began a few hours before midnight and included various observations as they came down.

Seated in a small fibreglass basket, open to the air, Mikesell and Ross went aloft at 8:50 p. m. from an open mine pit near Crosby.

by, Minn., scene of other historic balloon launchings.

They combined their astronomical and acromedical observations in a flight which the Navy said was the first of its kind for either study.

"I am very charmed by this unique method of conducting astronomy," radioed Mikesell, who makes a specialty of studying the scintillation or twinkling of the stars. This phenomenon is caused by optical effects of the earth's atmosphere, and he was able to observe the stars in the clear air at 40,000 feet.

While he and Ross drifted for two hours at that altitude over Minnesota and Wisconsin, measurements of their heartbeats, respiration and other physical reactions were recorded by radio and piped by telephone 1,300 miles to a laboratory at the Naval Medical Research Institute in a Washington suburb.

Capt. Norman L. Barr, Navy medical officer, said the same system will be used to keep track of the reactions of the passenger in the first manned satellite.

The two men, both residents of the Washington area, reacted similarly, Dr. Barr reported. Both remained in fine spirits.

Scottish Bomb Threat Revealed

KIRKCALDY, Scotland (AP)—Scottish nationalists are blamed for a threat to bomb Queen Elizabeth II and her husband when they visit here next month. The unknown person or persons mailed a token explosive to dramatize the threat.

The homemade bomb—not connected for firing—was delivered to the home of journalist Alan Mackay. He called the police.

"The second bomb would wipe out the insults of June 1953," said a note with the bomb. That's the month the Queen was crowned Elizabeth the Second.

Samuel Seabury Succumbs At 85

EAST HAMPTON, N. Y. (AP)—Samuel Seabury, the driving force in a corruption investigation which led to the resignation of deonair James J. Walker as mayor of New York City, died today. He was 85.

Seabury had been an invalid at Hand's Nursing Home here for several years.

As onetime judge of the New York State Court of Appeals, Seabury brought considerable prestige to his job as counsel for a legislative committee set up April 30, 1931, to investigate the affairs of Democratic New York City.

Dennis, son of Bing Crosby, is honeymooning in Las Vegas, Nev., with a blonde show girl he married Sunday night.

Marilyn Scott, 25, told her story when newspaper reporters produced copies of Denise Michelle Scott's birth certificate, listing the father as Dennis Michael Crosby.

When newsmen asked Dennis about the report, he phoned his family's attorneys in Los Angeles and later told reporters: "On my attorney's advice, I am not going to comment on the situation. Until I can straighten some things out with a few people, I cannot make any further statements."

Nixon Urges People Told Of Problems

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP)—Vice President Nixon says he has found on his South American tour a woeful lack of understanding of U. S. economic problems.

Government officials know the score but "we must reach the people," Nixon told a news conference Tuesday night. He advocated increasing exchanges of students and specialists between the United States and Latin America and tailoring U. S. information programs to clear up misunderstandings.

Nixon commented on the first half of his 18-day trip before flying today to Lima, Peru.

"There is a feeling in many capitals that U. S. loan programs and aid programs have not given as much assistance proportionally to Latin America as they should," he said.

The feeling exists, he continued, that there should be no limit on what Washington does for Latin America in the way of loans and stabilization of raw material prices. Nixon said U. S. officials should "step up across-the-table discussions so that the realities of the situation are laid on the table."

Mock Nuclear Attack Toll Counted Up

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. (AP)—Civil defense forces across the nation today began the task of adding up the mythical death and injury toll from the biggest mock nuclear attack in the five-year history of Operation Alert.

Millions of Americans theoretically died in the three-hour assault by more than 500 imaginary bombers and a few scattered submarines Tuesday.

Uncounted others were marked for death by simulated radiation fallout from 291 bomb blasts swept across the country by prevailing winds today.

Civil defense officials hailed the annual exercise as an apparent success.

"The attack was heavier than ever before, but local and state planning and participation was better than ever too," a spokesman said.

"We've never had such effective simulated evacuations."

Eighty-five key cities undertook hypothetical evacuation. Ten of these, ranking in size from Blytheville, Ark., to Baltimore, Md., reported virtually 100 per cent evacuation.

Half a million civil defense workers took part in the paper test of their ability to cope with an actual attack.

Four million Illinois schoolchildren hurried from classrooms in evacuation drills. Mississippi river boats were tried out at Memphis, Tenn., for use as possible evacuation craft. President Eisenhower rushed to a secret bomb shelter outside Washington. The test continues through tonight. Most of today's activities will focus on theoretical fallout problems.

COMPLETE PROTEIN

... are you sure you're getting all you need?

Complete protein is a "renewing" element in food. Your body must have it—and enough of it—at every meal. Without it, you restrict body-cell replacement, and that tired-out feeling is one result.

So be sure you get enough complete protein at every meal. It's so easy, if you have V¹⁰ Protein Bread on the table. Just two slices per meal supplies nearly a fourth of the adult complete protein requirement!

V¹⁰ Protein Bread is lean in calories, too. And it's delicious! Try it toasted: you'll make a new friend for breakfast.

GET ON THE VODKA WAGON—WITH SMIRNOFF

There's no vodka like Smirnoff! The Vodka of Vodka is smooth and flawless. It blends with any mixer, fruit juice or soft drink...

loses itself completely in just about anything that pours!

That's why Smirnoff lets you vary your drinks—without mixing your liquors. From cocktail to nightcap, you can stay with Smirnoff all evening long. For instance:

VODKA MARTINI. Smirnoff makes the world's smoothest, driest Dry Martini. Just use it instead of gin—but follow your usual martini proportions.

BLOODY MARY. 1 jigger Smirnoff to 2 of tomato juice, squeeze of lemon, dash of Worcestershire Sauce, pinch of salt and pepper. Shake with ice. Strain in glass.

VODKA & TONIC. Smirnoff has no liquor taste—so it never "takes over" in your drink. You'll find it leaves the tonic's flavor freshened—but unchanged!

VODKA HIGHBALL. For a tall, delicious cooler, add Smirnoff to ginger ale—or any other mixer. But also be inventive. Dream up your own Smirnoff drink!

At any rate, he appeared to get a big kick out of joining Republican Senators and Congressmen in some old favorites at a GOP national committee dinner last night.

Among tunes in which Mr. Eisenhower joined were the Whiffenpoof Song, My Old Kentucky Home, God Bless America, Sweet Adeline, I Want A Girl, and America The Beautiful.

The music was led by Sen. Prescott Bush (R-Conn.), who for some unexplained reason called for "My Old Kentucky Home" instead of the customary "Hail To The Chief" when Mr. Eisenhower entered the hall.

Local Student Prize Winner

Third place in the Maryland section of a national high school contest on the United Nations was won by Mary Ann Hiner, a student at St. Mary's High School here.

She will receive a $10 cash award at the United Nations Association headquarters in Baltimore.

The daughter of Mrs. Frank Hiner, 700 Montgomery Avenue, and the late Mr. Hiner, Mary Ann is a junior at St. Mary's. The paper submitted in the contest was a combination of a questionnaire on the workings of the United Nations and an essay.

Sister Xavier, principal, said this is the fourth prize pupils of St. Mary's have won this year. Linda Travis, a senior, won first prize in the American Legion Auxiliary, "Our Heritage Democracy," contest, and a first prize in the Court Cardinal Gobbons, CDA essay contest, "Going Steady." Judy Lee, another senior, placed second in the Civilian Club contest on "Citizenship in the School."

Water Unit Opposes Merger Proposal

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Water Pollution Control Commission has come out against plans for its merger with the State Department of Health.

Three of four commission members on hand at a special session yesterday voted to oppose any such merger. The fourth, John P. Tawes, chairman of the Board of Natural Resources, reserved his vote until all members are present and pending further study.

The Turkish-Greek war was in 1897. The war was ended by intervention of major powers.

OUR COUNTRY

The union of hearts, the union of hands and the flag of our Union forever.—Morris.

Hoover On Wilson

FORMER President Herbert Hoover, recovering well from a bout with the surgeons, must be gaining some of his good spirits from the warm reception accorded his new book on "The Ordeal of Woodrow Wilson." History records no other instance of an American president doing a biography of another president after he himself had served in the White House. That Mr. Hoover felt the urge to delve into Woodrow Wilson's story is a mark of his consuming interest in the pageant of American life.

THIS CONCERN FOR America's World War I president may have been sparked partly by the fact that he worked for him, directing the relief of millions in Belgium and France. It seems evident, too, that he was highly sensitive to the elements of both triumph and tragedy that colored Mr. Wilson's presidential career. Whatever his motives, Mr. Hoover has mastered his self-imposed assignment with commendable scholarship and complete freedom from partisanship. He is a frank admirer of the wartime president's values and standards. His sympathy may have been heightened by the fact that, as Wilson endured the bitter ordeal of the losing fight for the League of Nations, so his onetime relief commissioner suffered the trials of the greatest economic decline in U. S. history.

YET MR. HOOVER does not attempt, in presenting his sympathetic portrait, to gloss over the tragic failure which darkened Wilson's last days—beset also with crippling, incapacitating illness. The end result is a unique and remarkable document which stands at once as a compassionate yet hard-headed contribution to our understanding of Woodrow Wilson, and as a measure of the breadth and depth of a Republican president who dared to go beyond his party to find a moving, significant life story to tell.

Solid Man

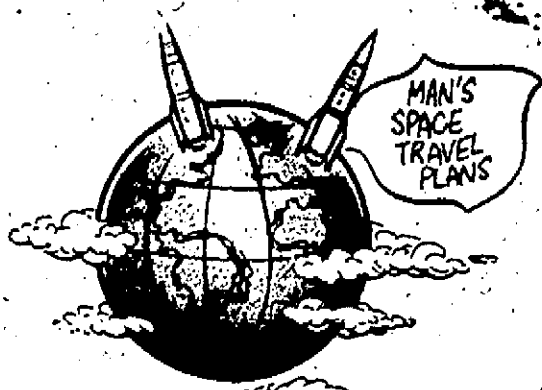

SEN. KNOWLAND of California may or may not become the next governor of his state, and he may or may not be a close competitor for the presidency in 1960 and thereafter. But few who watch him perform on the hustings in California or in the Senate in Washington can doubt that he is a man who has the courage of his convictions and is willing to follow wherever they lead him, whatever the political consequences. A good many are saying that his championship of right to work laws is heavily damaging politically. Maybe this will turn out to be so. Sometimes, however, the voters are surprising. From time to time they are impressed by a man's willingness to espouse unpopular causes. Not often are there any cracks in that granite. In fact, when he smiles, you sometimes get the idea that it has required a slip along the San Andreas earthquake fault. Whatever his future, the Senate in 1959 is bound to look a little marshy and spongy without the Great Rock from California.

Under Fire

NEW YORK sports columnists are having as much fun at the expense of the Los Angeles Dodgers as are the right-handed batters of opposing National League ball clubs. But the sports writer: are not out for the players. Their principal game is Walter O'Malley, president of the club, and the man responsible for moving it from Brooklyn to Los Angeles. Still, the players get a share of the biting sarcasm. A headline of a full column attack by Dan Parker of the New York Mirror reads, "O'Malley's Coliseum Cloves Menace Sennett's Laurels." Tears should be shed, wrote Parker, not for Babe Ruth and his record but for Mack Sennett: "The slapstick that is being provided at the coliseum every day Walter's (O'Malley's) clowning . . . is in imminent danger of making the cinema citadel forget the Keystone Comedies." Parker charges that O'Malley is running baseball into the ground. And on the same day, a New York Herald Tribune columnist centered a column around the charge that "Walter O'Malley came out in favor of money." There has been more of the same. It is open hunting season on the Dodgers for New York sports writers. Could it be that some of their ammunition is sour grapes?

Public Speaks Out On Recession Report

WASHINGTON — The conservative manner in which President Eisenhower handles the government economy, including the recession, has been "high-lighted from an unexpected source. It is the Rockefeller report which, as its name suggests, is the work of important men identified with large vested interests and strongly oriented toward the Republican party."

Naturally the anti-recession measures suggested in their bulky document get the headlines, especially as their tax cut proposal seemed to cut across the President's program. The business and financial community has since had time to give the report more intensive study and is voicing some arresting conclusions.

ONE IS THAT far from attacking the welfare state, the report takes the country further and faster along that path than Roosevelt and Truman did.

The evidence: The report states as a fact that the nation is dedicated to economic growth and full employment and that to this end real wages ought to be doubled in 30 years, with a possible rate of growth of five per cent a year.

By contrast, the President has referred to the recession as "a minor emergency we are meeting internally." He dwells upon each bit of evidence that the climb back to the old plateau may have begun and has offered no growth plans.

DETAILED forms of desirable government regulation of the economy are set forth also in the Rockefeller report, including use of the taxing power and monetary and fiscal policy. The Federal government is urged to take the lead in transportation policy, land and water use on a national scale, urban problems and various other social needs.

The Rockefeller planners do not, of course, represent all of business and their philosophy is perhaps overweighed with the ideas of Eastern internationalists. But they are a sufficiently inclusive group to prove that a revolution in the thinking of important business interests has taken place since President Roosevelt took office.

THAT THEY are interests which intend to be counted in American politics can hardly be denied. They supported in large part the Eisenhower candidacy, and it is an irony of history that at this point the Midwest smaller business backers of the late Senator Taft — as former Treasury Secretary Humphrey — seem to have the greater influence now with Eisenhower on economic matters.

What the report does in a broad sense is accept it as proved that this nation is in a race for expansion with the Soviet Union. In its details it sets up a time table and direction signals for that race.

Politically its significance is two-fold. It demonstrates that the Democrats cannot count on a monopoly of liberal and progressive ideas in national campaigns no matter how many Republicans coalesce with Southern Democrats in Congress. It shows that a Republican Presidential candidate who strikes out as the champion of economic growth and expansion can count on very telling support.

No "Race" To South Pole, Says Admiral

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Rear Admiral George J. Dufek, commanding U. S. Deep Freeze operations in the Antarctic, has revealed the inside story of what was built up into a great race by two explorers to reach the South Pole this year.

The two expedition leaders were Sir Edmund Hillary, 38, of New Zealand, conqueror of Mt. Everest, and Dr. V. E. Fuchs, 50, British scientist. Hillary got to the Pole first, on January 3. Fuchs, slowed down by blaws which threw him nearly three weeks behind schedule, made it January 19.

But, Fuchs and his party of 12 had the distinction of being the first men to cross the entire Antarctic continent — twice the size of the United States — on foot.

IT WASN'T a race at all, though, says Admiral Dufek.

The original plan was one of cooperation. Hillary was to go in from Ross Sea, south of New Zealand; over the route taken by Amundsen and Scott. His assignment was to lay supply bases for Fuchs, who was to explore a new route from Wedell Sea, south of the South Orkney Islands, off Cape Horn, South America.

When Hillary established his last base at mile 700, he decided to push on to the Pole. He found the going tough. So he sent a message to Fuchs, then still 500 miles the other side of the Pole, advising that he be flown out and try again next year.

This dispatch was supposed to be confidential, says Admiral Dufek. But it was made public in New Zealand. From this an impression was given that there was a rivalry between the two explorers, and that Hillary was trying to talk Fuchs out of making the race. Daily reports built up this idea.

IN AN EFFORT to counteract this impression, Admiral Dufek decided to fly correspondents in to the South Pole base established by the United States and supplied by air.

When Fuchs was a mile or two from the Pole, a party went out to meet him. Fuchs greeted Hillary warmly, says Admiral Dufek. There were no hard feelings between them.

Later Fuchs told Hillary that it was right for him to have sent the dispatch, advising an end to the expedition. But Fuchs pointed out that he had gone into debt some 20,000 pounds to finance his exploration. His men were on a year's leave. It would be impossible for them to come back next year. He had to make it this year or never.

Hillary then flew back to his mile 700 base. He waited for Fuchs there. The two parties came out together over the glaciers and in safety, before bad weather set in.

OPERATING people in Antarctica have paid no attention to rival claims of the various countries, says Admiral Dufek. They don't discuss territorial claims. Everybody gets along, even with the Russians and vice versa.

U. S. prestige has stood up well in the Southern Hemisphere during the International Geophysical Year, says Admiral Dufek. This country announced in 1954 it would establish seven bases, including a South Pole base, and it did.

The Russians announced in 1955 they would set up a South Pole base, but they yielded when it was pointed out this would be duplication of effort.

Instead, the Russians announced they would establish bases at the magnetic South Pole and at the "Pole of Inaccessibility," as Admiral Byrd called it. This is 14,000 feet high, in the center of the continent. Last reports had the Russians still 500 miles from their goal.

BUT THE Russians are apparently in Antarctica to stay. So is the United States. The Geophysical Year ends December 31, however, Admiral Dufek will return to Antarctica in September to supervise cutting operations more than half.

During the IGY summer, there have been as many as 6,000 people on Antarctica, not counting the penguins. In winter the human population is reduced to 1,000 observers and caretakers, including 350 Americans. The Russians have had between 50 and 100 men in Antarctica.

BRIGHT NOTE — From Washington came a gigantic plan designed to put at least 3,000,000 men back to work in private industry on a specified date. The plan was reported as having the backing of 25 chosen representatives of 36,000 manufacturers.

MAY QUEEN NAMED — Miss Ruth Jackson, McCoolle, is the 1933 May Queen at Potomac State College. Keyser, Milford Gibson of Kingwood was named prince.

ETHEL BARRYMORE HERE — It was from Cumberland that Ethel Barrymore went to make her debut in the movies. She had been touring the country in the stage revival of "School for Scandal" and the engagement closed here with a performance at the Liberty Theatre. Immediately afterward she went to New York and then to Hollywood.

Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK—Combing through an attic resembling a scrambled egg the other night, in search of a picture of Sarah Siddons as Isabella in "Measure for Measure," I came across an old New York menu. It was about 100 years old, give or take a year, and it was from the Albert, a French restaurant of the period, at 11th Street and University Place. It offered a complete Sunday dinner for 17 cents. Now go out and shoot yourself.

Items: Stuffed roast turkey with cranberry jelly, 8 cents; turtle soup with sherry (genuine turtle, best sherry), 6 cents. And so on.

A VISITING and venerable Shakespearean actor was shown this precious document and said: "But, old boy, it's still there. Still modest in price. Amazing fellow owns it."

So, next day, I went to the Albert French Restaurant at the same address and the actor had it right: it's still there, it's amazing and the owner, Joseph Brody (a fine old Gallic name, if there ever was one), was having a ball.

"I ADVERTISE all the sirloin steak anyone can eat for two dollars and thirty-five cents, and that's what I serve," he said. "I can't meet that 17-cent price, but I'll tell you this: one steak is usually enough for a patron."

"Only time I ever was goggle-eyed was when four jaspers from Maryland came in one night and ate seven steaks each. I had no choice, it cost them $2.35 each man for all seven steaks each. I mean: each of these fellows paid only $2.35 total for the seven steaks he had. That's close enough to the 1837 price, isn't it?"

"WHO OPENED this place first?"

"A painter named Albert Ryder," said Joe. "That's the legend, anyway. That huge mural up there on the wall was painted by him, the art experts say. If it is a genuine Ryder, and I don't say it is, it's worth about a million dollars at square yard rates. But there's a time conflict."

"The old menu you have is at least 100 years old and Ryder is not on record until 1860, a good 10 years later. I wouldn't know. The art experts swear: I have a real Ryder up there on the wall and when I had to have cleaning

"YOU HAVE old patronage records?"

"Yes, I do. Walt Whitman used to come in here and so did Mark Twain. He lived over there a block on Fifth Avenue at either Ninth or Tenth Street. Tenth, I think. Henry James used to bring his friends here for dinner and that corner table right there, no kidding, is where a gangling, undisciplined giant named Thomas Wolfe edited some of his novels."

"For that matter, Margaret Mitchell read galley-proofs of 'Gone With The Wind' at the same table. But not when Wolfe was at it. Today, that Irish actress, Siobhan McKenna, comes down and Myrna Loy, too. John Carradine has come in but he's always reciting poetry. We seat about 150 people at a time and on Sundays turn it over about seven times. I don't encourage the bar."

"IF YOU DON'T, you are the only restaurant in New York that doesn't."

"I put it in as a convenience," said Brophy. "But my margin is so narrow that turnover and not liquor is my profit balance. People linger over drinks and keep waiting diners standing. Also, a change: I'm beginning to get a seafood type in here. They order shrimps instead of steaks. These are Tivoli shrimps, running less than 10 shrimps to the pound. I buy in huge lots and I buy my steaks in carload lots."

"The served steak runs about 14 ounces. I have five choices: steak, shrimp, shish kebab, ham and chopped steak. No chicken or roast beef. I run the place proud because I am proud."

"I WAS IN the Free French Army and arrived in New York broke. I mean nine cents was the fortune. Inside a year I owned a restaurant. Who wouldn't be proud? In 1946 I was 32—and retired. Inside three months I was bored to death. I bought this place for $17,500 and we now do about $500,000 a year."

"That bar thing. Anything special?"

"The Lay-Away Plan," he said. "Green chartreuse and gin. Three, and we lay you away."

But the steak was good.

Reporter's Notebook

By CARROLL ARIMOND
For Hal Boyle

CHICAGO—The high school class of 1927 reassembled in Milwaukee the other night to count gray hairs, compare waistlines and exchange lies such as, "You haven't changed a bit."

Reunions are good ideas for less obvious reasons. They help keep today's headlines in perspective.

Teen-agers of 1927, as today, bedeviled and bewildered their elders who cluck-clucked at their behavior and forecast they'd never amount to much.

We all raised our share of hell in varying degrees. The biggest shareholder of the class of 1927 was Ben who practiced his deviltry right into graduation night.

Ben planted an alarm clock inside the grand piano in the school auditorium. No wartime submarine commander ever set a torpedo time fuse more accurately. Just as our distinguished speaker was sending us out into the cruel world on a string of platitudes, the clock sang out with its best dollar chime.

Later, when Ben served as a missionary on an Indian reservation in South Dakota, some of us observed that the Custer massacre finally was being avenged.

OUR REUNION speaker was Red, a name that hangs on although gray has replaced most of the auburn of his youth.

And what is Red doing now? The Very Rev. Edward J. O'Donnell, S. J., is the president of Marquette University, one of the largest Catholic universities in the United States.

Frank, with whom I once played a clumsy bass to his deft treble in a piano recital duet, spent his teens driving a truck.

What is Frank doing now? Frank D. Kelly is the corporate secretary of the Milwaukee Journal Co., whose papers he used to truck to news stands and carrier stations back in the '20s.

BY SIMPLE projection Al should be doing time somewhere for forgery. At the reunion he whipped out a pen and wrote on the tablecloth the signature of the school principal. It looked as perfect as it did on the phony excuse slips we'd set up to escape "jugs," a short synonym for disciplinary detention.

What's Al doing now? Alfred F. Braun is a sales manager for the Wisconsin Telephone Co., specializing in large installations. By the time John took his degree in business administration it was 1931 and there was little business to administrate. In good times and bad, people get sick, John observed. So he enrolled in medical school.

What's John doing now? Dr. John S. Hirschboeck has coupled his business and scientific training and is dean of the medical school in Red's university.

And what am I doing? I'm yawning over today's paper with those black headlines over stories about our awful teen-agers, and writing:

"Don't count these kids out yet! Give 'em at least until 1993."

WASHINGTON — Every time I visit the Capitol of the United States these days I absorb a wonderful feeling of reassurance. This is because the great edifice is being overrun. But, happily, the overrunning is not being done by members of Congress, political horse-traders, favor-seekers, and lobbyists. It is being done by schoolchildren. Public and high school students swarm the halls of Congress in such numbers that some of our most unresilient Senators and Representatives have to flatten themselves against corridor walls to let the kids squeeze past.

But I have yet to hear a complaint from either side. When the compressed lawmakers sag back to normal shape they grunt approval of youth's mounting interest in the operations of government.

NEVER BEFORE have students below college level shown such avid interest in the goings-on beneath the Capitol dome. Just the other day, to give a concrete illustration, more than 3,000 took the full guided tour through the double-winged structure.

How do I know that all were public and high school kids? Because they arrived in organized school groups and were accorded the bargain school rate of 15 cents. All others who take guided tours of the Capitol, from college students to run-of-the-mill tourists, pay 25 cents.

Fifteen cents doesn't seem like much in these inflationary times, but I often wish our elected Representatives, who run everything in the Capitol—as well as the rest of the District of Columbia—would let the young students in free. I don't feel their interest in how the nation's laws are made should be subject to assessment.

True, the price of Capitol tours does not represent any of the current inflation. In fact the price is exactly the same today as it was 81 years ago. There has been no increase since Grant was President. But, even so, I don't think students should pay for doing something that augurs so well for the future of the nation.

It makes you feel good to observe these youngsters making their appraisals. The two places in which they manifest the greatest interest are the Senate and House chambers. They want to hear the debates. Sometimes they hear some bewildering oratory, but not all the time, despite a popular misconception. Moreover, it often seems to me that the lawmakers try to make more sense when the students are in the galleries.

NEW YORK—(INS)—The Dun and Bradstreet Credit Clearing House today reported 138 retailers of apparel and accessories, dry goods and general merchandise failed in April with liabilities totaling $3,324,000, an increase of 13 per cent in the number of failures but a drop of 18 per cent in creditors' losses compared with the same month of 1957.

NEW YORK—(INS)—Bucyrus-Erie Company of South Milwaukee, Wis., today reported first quarter shipments of $11,166,000, down 53 per cent from the corresponding period a year ago. The company said this resulted in a net loss of $653,026, as against net earnings of $1,708,566 in the first quarter last year.

NEW YORK—(INS)—The recession appeared to have little effect on the moving habits of Americans. Allied Van Lines today said its first quarter revenue of $9,397,000 was 11 per cent above the year ago level. The number of shipments expanded ten per cent to 30,449.

Bruce, Who Wanted To Stay Out Of Fights, Gets In Big Democratic Primary Tangle

Editor's Note: This is the first in a series on candidates in Maryland's May 20 Democratic primary for U. S. Senate. Today's installment deals with James Bruce.

BALTIMORE (U)—On a steamy summer day two years ago, industrialist James Bruce was relaxing on his Carroll County cattle farm and explaining his neutrality in Maryland's Democratic factional politics.

Millard E. Tydings, laid low by a severe case of shingles after his successful primary, had just withdrawn as the party's nominee for his old Senate seat.

George P. Mahoney, laid low by a severe case of Tydings in the primary, suddenly took a new lease on political life and began energetically lining up central committee votes for himself as the substitute nominee.

Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro of Baltimore, who had induced Tydings to try a comeback and still was eager to stop Mahoney, was casting about for someone to help stop him.

"Tommy and the others (all except Mahoney) want me to run," Bruce explained. "But I told them I'd do it only if everybody (including Mahoney) wanted me. I've always stayed out of these fights in the past and I don't want to start getting into them now."

Today Bruce is running for the senatorial nomination in a campaign which, on the basis of sheer numbers, is a pretty big fight.

Among his six opponents are the mayor himself and the seemingly irrepressible Mahoney, who became the 1956 substitute nominee and lost the general election, anyway.

The fight, Bruce insists, was not of his making. He announced his candidacy last September, when both D'Alesandro and Mahoney indicated they planned to run for governor.

Mahoney's subsequent entry into the race did less to nudge Bruce than did the mayor's. After D'Alesandro filed for governor against Comptroller J. Millard Tawes, then switched to the Senate race as Tawes' running mate, Bruce "denounced the maneuver as the raw deal."

Bruce, for years a financial godfather to all factions of the party, had entered politics through the front door of diplomacy in 1919 as private secretary to the U.S. ambassador to Italy.

Now, making his first bid for elective office at 65, he obviously felt he had been dragged into a backroom brawl.

To his aid came four old and somewhat battle-scarred friends—Tydings, former Gov. W. Preston Lane Jr., former Sen. George L. Radcliffe and Baltimore lawyer Clarence W. Miles.

In endorsing him, all said, as Bruce had been saying all along, that he was the man with the best experience and qualifications for the job.

Glancing over his background, you get the impression that no matter what company you work for, Bruce is either a part-owner of it or a personal friend of your boss. He has been a director of at least 20 corporations making everything from cream cheese (National Dairy Products Co.) to tractor-trailers (Fruehauf).

He has been a vice president of two banks (Atlantic Exchange and Chase National) and president of another (Baltimore Trust Co.).

His father, the late William Cabell Bruce, was Maryland's 1922-23 senator. A cousin, Howard Bruce, was a Democratic national committeeman and unsuccessfully sought the 1940 Senate nomination. A brother, David K.E. Bruce, is U. S. ambassador to West Germany.

President Woodrow Wilson, who headed Princeton when James Bruce was a student there, made him a special White House aide. In the first Roosevelt administration, he was financial adviser to the Home Owner's Loan Corp. Under President Harry S. Truman, he was ambassador to Argentina, then returned to organize and direct the Mutual Defense Assistance Program, the forerunner of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Bruce also tells of having been shot at by Germans in World War I, kidnapped and held prisoner by Mexican bandits, and placed on the top-priority list of Communist assassins.

Watching Bruce in action during the current campaign, however, an unassuming observer would find it difficult to picture him as a dashing adventurer-turned-business tycoon.

Tall and stout, clad in his favorite slate-colored suit, he approaches a prospective voter like a docile gray bear. He moves slowly, speaks softly, shakes hands gently.

"I'm Jim Bruce, running for the Senate," he tells a Calvert County storekeeper, his florid features assuming a genial expression. "Nice place you've got here. I've done a lot of work for the Democratic party on the sidelines and now I want to get into the game."

Mrs. Bruce, a study in dignity and grace, accompanies him on his county tours, passing out campaign folders and chatting with shoppers. After an exchange of pleasantries, she is likely to wind up the conversation by leading a prospect half a block to catch up with Bruce and introduce them.

Unlike the rigorous timetables followed by many candidates, Bruce's itinerary on a recent Southern Maryland swing was so casual he missed a radio campaign speech engagement.

His manner seems so confident and relaxed that a legislator, meeting him for the first time during the Legislature in Annapolis last February, exclaimed:

"For a guy with a fight on his hands, he seems like somebody running without opposition!"

Bruce knows he has opposition. He merely believes it is almost impossible that thinking voters could discount his candidacy.

"I have no alliances except a deep and devoted one with my country, my state and the Democratic party," he says. "I do have, however, an abiding faith in the intelligence of the voters."

As his campaign pamphlet puts when "the candidate should properly qualify for the office—that the office should seek the man and not the man the office."

Many of his campaign statements have dwelled on "the deal," but in his speeches he discusses broader issues. He has called for greater emphasis on military and economic aid to our allies, strengthening national defense and tax relief for small business.

Bruce admits he is counting on a big turnout of that mysterious figure in politics, the "independent" voter, to offset the organizational pull of his major opponents in the primary.

Those who profess to share his optimism include Mrs. Shirley Ferguson, the telephone switchboard operator in a first-floor office of the Keyser Building in downtown Baltimore. On the office door are the words, "Campaign Headquarters, James Bruce for the U. S. Senate."

The lettering is in gold leaf, which reflects a sense of permanence seldom associated with political headquarters.

"Oh," shrugged Mrs. Ferguson in explanation, "that's because we expect to be here right through November."

NEW YORK — (INS) — Wall Street hears:

Notwithstanding the improvement thus far this month, May is regarded as a "stand-off" month in Wall Street. The Dow Jones industrials have advanced 31 times in the last 61 Mays . . . Lockheed anticipates sales and earnings the rest of the year may be lower after a good start in first quarter . . . RCA's color TV operations still in the red . . . Interest in "defensive" market issues seen slackening and some of interest shifted to speculative and medium and lower-priced shares . . . Most popular stocks in bank-administered trust funds at the

Progressive Young Women Hold Program At WCC House

The Progressive Young Women's Club met recently at the Women's Civic Club House with Mrs. Edward Shaffer presiding. Mrs. Robert Johnson led in prayer. Mrs. Harry Barton, music chairman, led the group in singing "Fair Lord Jesus." "How Lovely Is the Evening," and "When You Were a Tulip." Roll call was answered with "Relate an experience, good or bad that you have had with raising flowers."

Mrs. Rudolph Steinberger, Cresaptown, a member of the Garden Club, demonstrated two very different flower arrangements—one using pink gladioli blooms and geranium leaves and the other combining bridal wreath and white and red tulips. She gave many useful hints and short cuts for arranging flowers and answered questions. She stated that the most important point to keep in mind when making a bouquet is the place where it is to be used which will determine the size and shape of the container as well as the finished over-all picture.

Mrs. Finley Thompson presented color slides called "North With The Spring." It showed flowers, trees, and pictorial scenes of countryside in our country as well as Nassau.

Mrs. Garland Paxton was announced as delegate to Rural Women's Short Course at College Park, June 15-21.

Mrs. Charles Wendt, home and yard beautification chairman, conducted a written quiz on flowers and had charge of the exchange of flower cuttings.

Mrs. Shaffer announced the tea sponsored by the County Council of Homemakers will be held at the Civic Club House May 29 at 2 p. m.

The next meeting will be held June 6 at the home of Mrs. Harold Bishop Sr., in Keyser.

Refreshments were served buffet style by a committee with individual favors containing a planted flower, donated by Edward Shaffer, husband of the president.

Guests were Mrs. Douglas Smith, county president; Mrs. Guy Brengle, Mrs. Steinberger and Mrs. Thompson.

Others present were Mesdames James Armstrong, John Barton, Arthur Evans, Harry Grimes, John Leslie, Chelsie Liller, Hayden Phillips, James Ritchie, Walter Richardson, William Suler, Mabel White, Earl Stair, K. O. Nelson, and Lester McGill.

Mrs. Rosalee Allen, former resident, is reported in "very poor" condition in the base hospital at Fort Lee, Va., where she has been a medical patient for several days. Her husband, Sgt. Harry Allen, is stationed at Fort Lee, and the couple reside in Petersburg, Va. She is a daughter of Mrs. Hazel Lipscomb, 606 Maryland Avenue, and the late Wayne Lipscomb.

Area TB Association Elects, Sets Budget

Officers were elected and a budget for fiscal 1958-59 was approved yesterday by the Allegany-Tuberculosis Association at a meeting at the group's office in the Union-Street County Building.

The budget for the coming fiscal year will be $16,300.

Leaders of the organization for the coming year will be Charles M. See, president; Glenn K. Davis, first vice president; Miss Mary Margaret Smith, second vice president; Byron Knight, secretary; and Joseph Naughton, treasurer.

Senator See was elected to the presidency after serving an interim appointment as head of the association for the late Mrs. Stanley Buckley.

Named to the executive board in addition to the officers were Dr. Arthur Jones, Dr. Ton van Strien; Mrs. Jennie J. Graham; James S. Getty and Francis Kenney.

Directors include: Dr. Ralph Ballin; Mrs. Elinor Westerfeld; Mrs. Elizabeth Nave; Edgar M. Lewis; Dr. Thomas Lusby; Harry C. Edwards; Mrs. Herbert C. Heineman; George Hanst; H. W. McComas; Mrs. Arthur Evans; Mrs. Hazel Walters; Noel Speir; Cook; Thomas Kilduff; William Wilson; Rev. John U. Lyness.

Mrs. Margie Lee; R. Bowen Hardesty; Mrs. Nelson Keyes; Mrs. Pearl Blair; West Sleeman; and Ralph Beachley.

The budget for the next fiscal year is slightly larger than the one for the 1957-58 period. Last year's budget was $16,265.08, being $34.92 less than the current appropriation.

However, the financial report given at yesterday's annual meeting showed the association's expenditures for the last fiscal period to be $16,115.67, which is $149.41 less than the budget for that year and $104.33 less than this year's needs.

The expenditures left a total of $2,166.92 in the association fund. The 1957 TB seal sales brought a total of $18,709.98 of which $3,929.10 was given to the national and state associations.

Coupled with the fund balance this gave the association a bank balance of $16,947.80. An Allegany County clinic grant of $600 will hike this total to $17,547.80, more than adequate to cover the expenses listed in the 1958-59 budget.

Expenses Are Outlined
The largest slice of the budget covers salaries for two stenographers and the executive secretary of the association, $8,900. Remaining expenses list Health-Department grants, $1,500; meetings, $400; car mileage, $150; car allowance, $400; audio-visual supplies, $10; printed materials, $2,400; maintenance of equipment, $110; insurance, $280; postage, $1,200; office supplies, $150; telephone, $250; state social service, $150; county social service, $300; and service fees, $100.

The executive secretary's report showed a total of 9,957 X-rays were taken throughout the two counties last year with only 50 referrals made to the health departments. Of these, actual cases of lung disease numbered only 19, all in Allegany County. A weekly diagnostic clinic is held in Allegany County and a monthly clinic is held in Garrett County. There were 1,963 X-rays taken at the Allegany clinics and 550 in Garrett County. In addition there were 134 clinic patients in Allegany County and 265 in Garrett County.

The association report showed $1,309.18 spent on social service of which approximately $824.25 was for salary time of the executive secretary. Direct assistance of $468.20 was spent for clothing, travel and medicine. Assistance to patients in the counties amounted to $342.68 and assistance to patients in state hospitals came to $125.52.

Miss Jean Reinhard is executive secretary of the association.

Pop Takes Place Mother At Shower

OKLAHOMA CITY — Mrs. Glen Curry decided to go ahead with the baby shower for Mrs. Charles Heinen even though the stork arrived a day before the time set for the party.

Standing in for the guest of honor was the father, who kept the women amused trying on the presents. "I had already ordered my cakes and ice cream and my friends told me I was silly not to go ahead with the shower," Mrs. Curry explained. The party was a complete success.

Coolie is a term generally applied to Asiatic unskilled laborers and especially to Indian or Chinese emigrants of this class.

Local Recruit Station Cited

The local Navy recruiting station has been honored by being selected as the top unit in the nation for obtaining men for naval service, according to Chief Petty Officer Thomas L. Scarborough, who is in charge of the station.

The recognition, which came in the form of a "Navy Recruiting Station of the Month" certificate, was signed by Captain M. J. Mooney, director of Navy Recruiting in Washington, and was presented to the local Navy recruiters by Lieutenant Commander V. Lopresti, officer in charge of Navy recruiting for the Baltimore area.

The awards were based on recruiting results obtained by the local Navy recruiters during the month of February, when a total of 15 enlistments were made, as opposed to an assigned quota of 13. Other factors which are given consideration in the determination of "Navy Recruiting Station of the Month" citations are a high and efficient level of administrative procedures and publicity work.

In addition to Chief Scarborough, other recruiters at the local Navy Recruiting Station include Petty Officers, R. P. Johnson, Coy E. Turner, and Ronald Heinsch.

Driver Jailed, Fined $500 In Road Fatality

John D. Morris, 19, Pleads Guilty To Homicide Charge

The driver of a car which crashed Saturday at midnight on Route 28 south of Wiley Ford, killing two boys and hospitalizing another, was sentenced yesterday to six months in the Mineral County Jail and fined $500.

John David Morris, 19, of RD 1, Ridgeley, pleaded guilty to a charge of negligent homicide during a hearing yesterday afternoon in Keyser before Miss Madalyn Bazzle.

Young Morris, who is a seaman in the Navy, stationed at Newport, R. I., began serving his six-month term in the county jail yesterday. His father, Samuel Morris, was present at the hearing. Both waived the right to be represented by counsel.

Also present at the hearing was Trooper Robert Necchel, of the Keyser detachment of West Virginia State Police, who investigated the fatal crash.

Killed in the crash were the driver's younger brother, Ronald G. Morris, 17, a junior at Ridgeley High School and John K. Wolfe, 18, of RD 3, Gate City, Va., who was employed as an office clerk in a produce house in Washington.

John K. Boyland, 16, of RD 1, Ridgeley, who was seriously injured in the crash, is reported improving at Memorial Hospital and "much better."

He suffered a fractured skull, fractured right arm and left collarbone and a deep laceration of his scalp when he was thrown from the car.

The two men who died also were thrown from the car when it went out of control about five miles south of Ridgeley near the "turn-around." The driver was slightly injured in the crash.

After going out of control the car traveled along the berm and an embankment for some distance, clipped a utility pole and continued for another 150 feet before stopping.

MOTHER OF YEAR SIGHTSEES—Mrs. May Roper Coker of Hartsville, S. C., "The American Mother of 1958," gets the sights of New York's Park Avenue pointed out to her by her stepson, Robert R. Coker. With them is Mrs. J. Calhoun, Harris, formerly of Greenville, S. C., who is hostess to Mrs. Coker. (AP Photofax)

Little Southern Lady Mother Of Year

NEW YORK (AP)—A little Southern lady, who quietly has devoted her life to helping others in a small town, is the American Mother of the Year.

Mrs. May Roper Coker of Hartsville, S. C., was thrilled at the honor, but not quite sure the American Mothers Committee hasn't mistaken her for someone else.

She sidesteps credit for raising eight children and deprecates any fuss over her many civic activities and personal charities.

"Miss May," as they call her back home, is a cultured, educated woman. She is 67. More than 40 years ago, she forsook the social glitter of Washington to become the wife of a plant-pioneer in a little farm community.

Her father was a well-to-do former Cabinet officer, Secretary of Commerce Daniel Roper, who served six years in the Franklin Roosevelt administration (1933-39). Long before that, in 1915, she married into one of the prominent families of the Carolinas.

When she was 24, she met and married David R. Coker, a widower with five children and a man with a dream. Coker believed he could improve the lot of farmers by giving them better seed. He took his bride to Hartsville, where visitors came from all over the world to see his experiments and their applications on local farms.

"Miss May," too, believed strongly then and now in social improvement. She followed her husband's experiments and taught classes in vegetable and flower growing to farm hands and mill workers.

Sgt. Atkinson Enters Contest

Staff Sgt. Brooke C. Atkinson, of 532 Cumberland Street, arrived in Washington yesterday to compete for the title of the nation's top Marine Reserve instructor.

Staff Sgt. Atkinson, a son of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Atkinson, Baltimore Pike, placed first in a five-state contest in March and won the right to participate in the national event.

An employee of the U. S. Geological Survey in Cumberland, he will be representing the local Sixth Special Infantry Company, Marine Corps Reserve.

Staff Sgt. Atkinson is one of 16 contestants taking part in the nationwide contest.

The purpose of the contest is the betterment of instruction techniques in Marine Reserve units.

SRC Seeks Wiley Ford Bridge Aid

Efforts are still being made by the State Roads Commission of Maryland to get the West Virginia Highway Department to pay for half the cost of a proposed new bridge across the Potomac River at Wiley Ford.

This information was contained in a letter sent to James Orr, president of the Allegany County Commissioners, by Robert O. Bonnell, chairman of the State Roads Commission, concerning the status of the Wiley Ford Bridge.

Bonnell explained that in the two years he has served on the SRC he has been constantly attempting a solution of the financing of a new Wiley Ford Bridge.

The SRC chairman stated that the Maryland commissioners met last June in Cumberland with Patrick Graney, West Virginia highway commissioner, in an attempt to convince the West Virginia official of the importance of a new bridge linking Wiley Ford and South Cumberland.

The West Virginia Highway Department has limited funds and Mr. Bonnell attributes this as the reason for an obvious change of policy by that state. Mr. Graney has informed the Maryland commissioners that West Virginia is willing to pay only for the West Virginia approach to the bridge on the grounds that Maryland has jurisdiction of the Potomac River to its West Virginia bank.

This is a reversal of all previous West Virginia policy concerning bridges across the Potomac River. Mr. Bonnell pointed out that West Virginia paid half of the cost of the new bridge linking Ridgeley and Cumberland.

Bonnell did cite in his letter that Mayor Roy W. Eves has indicated that Cumberland will assume the cost of the Maryland approach to the Wiley Ford Bridge.

Route 40-11 Bypass To Be Started Soon

HAGERSTOWN (AP)—G. Bates Chairs, district engineer for the State Roads Commission in Western Maryland, said Tuesday that construction on the proposed bypass of U. S. 40 and 11 should get under way within a year.

He said the bypass should get started between Hancock and Licking Creek first, for that is the worst stretch of the highway west of Hagerstown.

Chairs made the statement during a public hearing on the proposed bypass. About 50 persons were present.

The principal opponents were from Halfway, a community of about 3,000 persons about three miles from Hagerstown.

They said that the new limited access highway would block off street communication between sections of the town.

Chairs said he would refer their objections to the SRC for further study and possibly rerouting of that stretch of the new highway.

Hanlin Collects 156 Stray Dogs

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday received a report from Burza Hanlin, dog warden for the western part of the county, showing he picked up 156 stray dogs during April.

Hanlin, who resides at Westport, made 72 trips in collecting the dogs. The trips included 23 to Frostburg, 15 to Lonaconing, four to Midland, six to Eckhart, six to Carlos, four to Mill Run Road, four to McCool, two to Vale Summit Road and eight to the pound.

Hanlin also answered seven calls about dog bites and two to McCool Road concerning dogs killing deer.

The warden sold 120 tags in the month.

Senate Bill Defeat Asked By Bar Head

Would Curb Power Of Supreme Court, Lawyers Are Told

HAGERSTOWN (AP)—The president of the American Bar Assn. called on all lawyers Tuesday night to help defeat a Senate bill aimed at curbing the power of the Supreme Court.

"The ever-rising tide of criticism of judges and our courts," said Charles S. Rhyne of Washington, D. C., "makes this a most appropriate time to remind lawyers of their duty to uphold public esteem for our judiciary so as to maintain public confidence in our courts as an institution of government."

Review Of Cases

Rhyne centered his fire on one section of a bill approved 10-5 by the Senate Judiciary Committee April 30. This section would strip the Supreme Court of its authority to review cases involving the admission of lawyers to practice in state courts.

"Any tampering with or denial of access to the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court because of current clamor against some of its decisions destroys that basic principle upon which the adequate working of our governmental system depends," Rhyne said.

His remarks were contained in an address prepared for the Washington County Bar Assn.

Respect Of Public

"If the American public loses its respect for our courts, one-third of our governmental system of checks and balances will be gone," Rhyne said.

"If one of our three branches of government may be destroyed, none are safe."

He said he was not objecting to criticism of individual decisions but to "denunciation of courts and vilification of judges."

"As a matter of principle Congress should not sit as a court of review over the Supreme Court or any other court," Rhyne asserted.

Passenger Agent For B & O Railroad Dies

NEW YORK (AP)—Harry L. Porter, 52, general passenger agent at New York for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad since 1955, died Tuesday of a heart attack. He started with the railroad as a ticket clerk at Chicago in 1926 and held various positions at Cleveland, Akron, Ohio, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and St. Louis.

Routine Receiver's Sale Winds Up With Big Brawl

CAMBRIDGE (AP)—It looked like a routine receiver's sale there in the courthouse hall. But before the thing was over, it turned into a whale of a brawl.

When the Robbins brothers began mixing it up the fists flew thick and fast. Two of them wound up in jail but the plants were sold at last.

This saga of the Klondike, Eastern Shore style, unfolded at the Dorchester County Courthouse yesterday. The principals were M. Baker Robbins, president of the county commissioners; a brother, Henry D. Robbins; another brother, Louis B. Robbins, and Louis' son, Louis P. Robbins.

Three canneries in the lower part of the county were being sold to carry out a Circuit Court decree. M. Baker and Henry were complainants in the proceeding, and Louis B. and son were defendants.

When the dust had settled in the corridor, Police Chief Brice Kinnamon had sworn out four disorderly conduct warrants and Louis B. and Louis P. were in Dorchester County Jail. And five city policemen and a state police corporal were standing guard.

The three brothers owned the canneries before they went into receivership last summer.

Yesterday, Louis B. and his son bid $7,000 and were challenged by M. Baker to produce one-third of the purchase price. M. Baker then upped the bid to $8,000 and was similarly challenged by Louis B. and his son.

Then came the fist fight. Chief Kinnamon said Louis B. and son both were charged with assault and battery and held in lieu of $1,000 bail each. Each of them also swore out disorderly conduct warrants against M. Baker and Henry but the latter weren't in jail.

The canneries? Oh, they went to M. Baker Robbins on his bid of $8,000.

Catholics Defend Use Of A-Bombs

FRANKFURT, Germany (INS)—A group of West German Roman Catholic theologians today disagreed with the view of an Evangelical (Lutheran) Church synod meeting that the use of atomic weapons is a sin.

The German news agency DPA reported a declaration by the theologians which said weapons that are out of human control should be condemned as immoral, but said that does not apply to atomic weapons.

The statement said armament as a measure of defense could be a national duty, "if the moral and physical existence of peoples are endangered by an attack."

Hard Landing By 'Copter Ends Crisis

TWENTYNINE PALMS, Calif. (AP)—Hard landing in a helicopter ended a mercy flight — and the need for it.

When 2-year-old Frank Crouch swallowed a nickel, it lodged in his throat. He began to choke.

Doctors at Twentynine Palms Marine base—where Frank and his parents live—put the boy in a helicopter, fed him oxygen and sent him to Riverside for hospital treatment.

After four minutes the pilot had trouble controlling the craft, and made a precautionary landing on the desert.

He went down hard—and so did the nickel. Frank swallowed hard and could breathe again. His parents, Capt. and Mrs. W. M. Crouch took him to the hospital for observation. Doctors said "nature would solve the boy's problem."

Mississippi Editor, James Skewes, Dies

MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP)—James H. Skewes, 70, editor and publisher of the Meridian Star since 1922, died Tuesday. He headed the Sunshine Press, which owned newspapers in Las Cruces and Artesia, N. M., and other newspapers in the Southwest and mid-South. He was born in Cornwall, England.

Young Rocket Experimenters Being Maimed

BOSTON (AP)—Teen-age rocketeers are injuring—and maiming—themselves at an alarming rate, the National Fire Protection Assn. reported in a survey made public today.

The non-profit fire-safety organization, in a report on 84 children and two adults wounded in a six-week period from March 1 to April 15, estimated that count takes in not more than half the actual number of rocketry casualties in that period.

Cancer Victim Gets Wish

DETROIT (AP)—Billy Staggs, 12-year-old bedridden cancer victim, had a wish of many weeks fulfilled Tuesday. He ate plums, compliments of friends and an airline.

The suburban Garden City boy's craving was made known to officials of American Airlines through his stepfather's employer. The plums, from South America, were found in a New York warehouse and flown in.

Billy also likes peaches. Airline officials say he'll have some today, from California.

Lewyn Davis Death Victim At Hospital

School Official Had Varied Professional Career In County

Lewyn C. Davis, 53, of 825 Greene Street, supervisor of Allegany County junior high schools and a former principal of two county high schools, died at 7:15 a. m. today in Memorial Hospital where he was admitted Sunday with pneumonia.

He had been in failing health since January.

Mr. Davis had been associated with the Allegany County school system for the past 31 years, starting as an English teacher in September 1926 at old Greene Street Junior High School.

Transferred To Allegany
He was at Greene Street until 1930 when he was transferred to Allegany High School as a teacher of U. S. history. He also served that school until 1941 as vice principal.

In February 1941, Mr. Davis was made principal of Bruce High School, Westernport, holding that position until 1945 when he was transferred to Central High School at Lonaconing, as principal.

In September 1948, he was promoted to the position of supervisor of junior high schools for the Board of Education.
He attended Cumberland public schools and was graduated from Allegany County High School in 1922. He received his bachelor of arts degree from the University of Richmond in 1926 and that fall returned here to begin his teaching career. He received his master's degree from Columbia University in 1930.

Active In DeMolay
Mr. Davis was a member of First Presbyterian Church and was a charter member and first master counselor of Cumberland Chapter, Order of DeMolay. He served as "Dad" of the chapter and was a member of Sanford H. Buley Chapter, DeMolay Alumni.
He had been president of the Luke-Westernport Rotary Club and also held the same office with the Cumberland Rotary Club.

He served several years on the City Recreation Board and at the time of his death was treasurer of the Cumberland Free Public Library.

Mr. Davis was active in teachers' affairs, principally in the field of retirement and welfare with the Allegany County and Maryland state teachers associations.

Former Scoutmaster
An avid historian, one of his contributions to Maryland history was his participation in the compilation of a series of color slides on scenes of Allegany County that depicted various phases of its past and present. These are used statewide in schools by Maryland history classes. He was active during the Fort Cumberland Bicentennial.

He was a former scoutmaster and was a member of the Allegany County Philatelic Society.
Mr. Davis was born in Cumberland June 18, 1904, a son of the late Hunter and Elizabeth (Fowler) Davis.

Besides his wife, the former Ruby Woodward, he is survived by two brothers, Dr. Howard V. Davis, Richmond, Va., and George S. Davis, College Park.

The body is at the George Funeral Home. The family requests that flowers be omitted and contributions be made to the Allegany-Garrett County Heart Association. Friends will be received from 2 to 4 p. m. and from 7 to 9 p. m.

State Soil Unit To Meet

A meeting of the Maryland State Committee for Soil Conservation will be held today at 4 p. m. at the office of County Farm Agent Joseph M. Steger at the Court House.

Steger said the state group will confer with members of the Allegany County Soil Conservation Supervisors on the program here.
The state committee is making its first visit to this county in several years, Steger said. Officials who will come here are Harry Reich, Caroline County state chairman; Edward Davis, head of the State Soil Conservation agency; Gordon M. Cairns, a member of the state committee; and Fred Bull, secretary of the group.

Meeting with the state unit will be Floyd Buser, chairman; Charles Harvey, Ernest Slider, D. T. Puffenberger, Wilbur Paugh, members of the Allegany County Soil Supervisors, and Martin Gordon, soil conservation aide, and Steger.

The work being done through the soil conservation program in Allegany County will be reviewed and future projects discussed, Steger said.

Three Eligible

The Civil Service Commission said three men are eligible for appointment as policemen as the result of tests conducted last week. They are James L. Stewart, Joseph R. McIntosh and James L. Bohn.

G.P. Mahoney Continues To Want Tax Cut

D'Alesandro Steers
Clear Personalities
In Talk Last Night

By The Associated Press
George P. Mahoney, Democratic candidate for the U. S. Senate nomination, is sticking to his demand for a tax cut. He criticized one of his opponents, Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro, for favoring a public works program instead.

The mayor, however, steered clear of personalities in a televised speech last night at a Baltimore Democratic rally. Instead, he pointed to his 32 years in public office as his major qualification for the nomination.
Mahoney returns from the Eastern Shore today to begin his "shoeleather" campaign in South Baltimore, which had been delayed two days by rain. D'Alesandro was also concentrating on city voters.

Others Keep Active
Two other senatorial candidates, James Bruce and Clarence D. Long, moved into Harford County. Tonight Long was scheduled to speak at a rally in Prince Georges County.

In contrast to his fiery speeches recently, D'Alesandro's address last night mentioned none of his opponents and contained a matter-of-fact outline of his terms as city councilman, state legislator, congressman and mayor of Baltimore.

He spoke with pride of his efforts as a congressman in "helping to formulate the policies that ended the depression and hastened the end of the Great War."

He said he would support, as a senator, efforts to give this nation "the strongest national defense possible." The mayor also described federal aid to education at all levels as "absolutely essential" and called for measures to end the current recession.

Others At Rally
Appearing with D'Alesandro at the rally were other members of the Democratic Party, including J. Millard Tawes for governor, Louis L. Goldstein for comptroller and Atty. Gen. C. Ferdinand Sybert for renomination.

Mahoney, in a statement issued while he was touring the lower Eastern Shore, said he "took sharp issue" with D'Alesandro's stand on a public works program.
"Mayor D'Alesandro need not look very far for an example of how slowly public works can proceed," Mahoney said.

"The city administration which he heads has been authorized by the voters to construct public works totaling nearly 150 million dollars. Despite the fact that some of these projects were authorized as long as six years ago, this 150 million dollars has not yet provided a job for a single construction worker."

Mahoney also accused Sen. Beall (R-Md) of talking "nonsense" about the federal income tax. The Baltimore County contractor, who is seeking Beall's Senate seat, challenged the senator's statement Monday that an income tax for individuals would not put more money in anyone's pockets immediately.

Sees Immediate Help
"A tax cut, accompanied by a lower withholding rate, would mean an immediate increase in take home pay for every working person," Mahoney said.

Bruce was the guest of Millard Tydings today at the former Democratic senator's estate in Harford County. Tydings accompanied Bruce on his tour of Eastern Shore counties this week, including yesterday's stop in Cecil County.

They walked down the streets and through the shops of Elkton, Rising Sun, Port Deposit, Perryville and other Cecil towns, shaking hands everywhere they went.

Bruce said last night "I find the people of Cecil County are deeply disturbed over the failure of the Republican administration to establish either a sound foreign or domestic policy."

Opposes Bill
Long, speaking in Baltimore and Hagerstown, said he is opposed to the Jenner-Butler bill in the Senate which would limit the powers of the Supreme Court.

"I accept the Supreme Court as the final and supreme determinant of the Constitution of the United States," the Johns Hopkins University professor declared.

He also said he was opposed to withholding federal school aid.

Bond Set For Two Brothers In Larceny

Former Frostburg
Pair Destroyed
Car, Garage In Fire

Two former Frostburg area brothers are being held under $1,000 bond each on charges of breaking and entering resulting from an escape Saturday night during which a car and garage were destroyed when one of the brothers lit a cigarette lighter while they were stealing gasoline.

The brothers, Russell Lockard, 23, and John Junior Lockard, 19, both of whom have been residing in Baltimore, had their bonds set at a hearing this morning before Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick. The state, represented by Edwin R. Lilya, county investigator, prayed a jury trial. The young men indicated they would seek an immediate trial.

Driving Charges

The brothers in the meantime drew sentences in the county jail on driving charges resulting from questioning following the Saturday night episode.

Trooper Joseph V. Stakem charged the older Lockard with operating a vehicle while driving privileges were suspended and operating on expired tags. The younger brother was charged with operating on expired tags and operating without a permit.

Russell Lockard was sentenced to 30 days in the county lockup in default of a $100 fine on the former charge, and 10 days in default of a $10 fine for driving on expired tags. John J. Lockard drew 10 day sentences in default of $10 fines on the two charges preferred by Trooper Stakem. The sentences are to run consecutively, Magistrate Dick stipulated.

Gas Fumes Ignited

The brothers were draining gasoline from a vehicle owned by John Struntz of Welsh Hill which was parked in a garage at Wrights Crossing owned by John R. Meagher. The younger brother used his lighter so as to better see the undertaking, with the flame igniting the fumes and destroying the car and garage.

Russell Lockard suffered painful burns of the arm in the explosion and fire, which also badly damaged their own automobile. The brothers were arrested early Sunday morning.

The pair had been working in the Baltimore area for the past five years, police said, and had returned here about two weeks ago to seek employment.

Films Scheduled For Tour Group

Two travel films will be shown at a meeting of persons interested in the 1958 Times-News Tour of nine European countries today at 8 p. m. in the Fort Cumberland Hotel Ballroom.

George Hightman, Washington representative of Canadian Pacific, will show "Castles and Castles" and "Wings to Austria."

Forty-eight persons have signified their interest in the tour that starts in Washington August 31 and ends there October 4.

Countries to be visited include Portugal, Spain, Italy, Austria, Germany, Belgium, Holland, Scotland and Canada.

MRS. MARYLAND LAPP—Mrs. Maryland Lapp of LaVale—shows off her yeast-raised recipe during the national Mrs. America contest in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.,

where contestants from each of the 48 states and the District of Columbia are competing for the title of the nation's outstanding homemaker.

City Crews Take Trash From Streets

City Street Department crews yesterday removed 102 truckloads of trash produced from the attics, garages and cellars of Cumberland residents.

Today the trucks were busy on West Side and tomorrow and Friday will be dispatched to all parts of the city where pickups have been missed.

Street Commissioner William H. Buchholz said the work of the crews was hampered by scavengers touring the streets ahead of the city trucks, spreading piles of trash, and taking items they wanted.

This became so much of a problem yesterday in North End the commissioner said he had to call in the Police Department to patrol the streets.

Because the department was not able to work on the streets because of the rain, every available man and truck was placed into the project yesterday Buchholz added.

Monday, 44 truck loads were collected in South End and on the East Side.
The trash missed so far this week will be picked up tomorrow and Friday if the resident calls the Street Department warehouse on Valley Street.

State's Attorney Changes Hours

State's Attorney James S. Getty today announced that his office will observe new hours during the summer months.

Getty said the office will be open from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. instead of 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. The new schedule goes into effect next Monday.

The change will result in the state's attorney's office conforming to the same hours as the Circuit Court clerk office, Trial Magistrates' Court and other county offices, Getty said.

Fort Hill Honor Society Officers Installed At Tea

Officers of the Fort Hill High School Chapter of the National Honor Society were installed for the 1958-59 school term at a tea yesterday in the school's home economics dining room.

The new officers are Leroy Henry, president; Michael Holshey, vice president; Constance Sansom, secretary; Robert King, treasurer; Donna Robertson, jeweler; and Carol Dunlap, member-at-large.

The retiring officers, who presided at the installation, are James Diggs, president; David Rowley, vice president; William Alabough, secretary; William Matheny, treasurer, and Jeffrey Getz, jeweler.

Annual Chapter Event
Arranged by the social committee, the tea is an annual event among the activities of the Fort Hill Chapter. Members of the social committee are Miss Edwina Kraus, Joyce White, John Turley, Joseph Parsons, Suzanne Browne and Doris Day.

The senior home economics classes, supervised by Miss Mary Martin and Miss Yola Hudson, prepared the tea.

The faculty advisory committee to the Fort Hill Honor Society is composed of Miss Gerardine Pritchard, chairman; Victor D. Hickey, principal; Miss Kraus, Miss Christine Alderton and Robert Price. Programs for the tea were prepared by Treva Silber.

Pledge of Loyalty
As part of the installation ceremony, Constance Sansom sang "We'll Be Seeing You" and "Our Buddies." Miss Annetta Yates, music teacher, led group singing of "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep You." Carol Dunlap gave the pledge of loyalty to all members to the new officers.

WINCHESTER — Leslie S. Finley died May 2 at his home here. Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Helen V. Jessie, Piedmont, W. Va.

Services were conducted yesterday at Mt. Carmel Baptist Church by Rev. M. W. Walker and interment was in Orrick Cemetery. Pallbearers were Harry, Floyd and Frederick Taper. (Continued on Page 20)

Keyser Area Woman Dies In New Creek

West Virginia police are investigating the death of Mrs. Beulah May Smith, 54-year-old New Creek widow whose body was recovered yesterday from swollen, murky waters about four miles south of Keyser along U. S. Route 220.

Cpl. Evan Moody of the Keyser State Police detachment said the victim's son, Robert M. Smith, found a note left by his mother at her home where she lived alone.

Authorities reported there was no indication of foul play. Mrs. Smith was said to have been dependent for some time, they added.

Her body was discovered lying in New Creek by Mr. and Mrs. Orville Crites who operate the Trading Post in Keyser. The couple was driving across a bridge which spans the water near the Blue Jay Service Station. They notified police.

"The woman's body was pulled from the water" by Owen Morgan, a volunteer fireman, and Allan Rotruck, co-partner of Rogers Funeral Home in Keyser, where the body was taken pending further investigation.

Police added that the victim's home, which she was reported to have recently sold, is located near the creek about six miles south of Keyser.

Dr. Paul Healy, Keyser physician, who examined the woman's body at the funeral home, decided to contact Dr. Benedict Sklar, a local pathologist, and requested that an autopsy be performed.

Cpl. Moody said he was called about 5:55 p. m. (EDT) and by the time he arrived on the scene, Sheriff Walter O. Mott of Mineral County was there.

Investigating with Cpl. Moody is Donald C. Holt, prosecuting attorney of Mineral County.

The woman's body was brought to Memorial Hospital here last night and an autopsy was performed by Dr. Sklar. A report is pending.

A native of Antioch, W. Va., Mrs. Smith was a daughter of the late Benjamin and Ella (Brown) Hall.

Her husband, Edward N. Smith, preceded her in death. Surviving besides her son, are a sister, Mrs. Martha Metz, Carinbrook, Pa., and two brothers, Ervin Hall, Winchester, Va., and Jess Hall, of Keyser.

Mrs. Smith was a resident of New Creek for 15 years. She was a member of the Presbyterian Church. The body is at the Rogers Funeral Home where services will be conducted Friday at 2 p. m.

Rev. Allen Parrish, Methodist minister, will be in charge and interment will be in Queens Point Cemetery, Keyser. Friends will be received at the funeral home after 7 p. m. today.

Parkside School Play This Week

The pupils of Parkside School, LaVale, will present "Around the World," an original play, in the school auditorium Thursday and Friday, at 7:45 p. m.

Songs, dances, and poems from the various countries of the world will be presented by the different grades.

Scenery and properties, including a ship, the S. S. Parkside, have been prepared by Fifth and Sixth Grade under the direction of Mrs. Lawrence Kyle, group leader.

Room visitation will be from 7 to 7:30 p. m. A candy sale will be held before and after the meeting.

Church Holding Four Meetings

A series of four meetings opened last night at the Assembly of God Church, Springfield, W. Va., with the Rev. Carmine DiBiase of Philadelphia, as speaker.

Services will be held today through Friday at 7:30 p. m. (DST), according to the pastor, Rev. John Hamercheck.

Thursday evening, the film, "Martin Luther" will be shown. Rev. Mr. DiBiase is pastor of the Philadelphia church, one of the leading missionary churches in the world.

River Level Drops As Rain Covers Area

Weather To Stay
Cool; Clearing
Seen By Friday

The Potomac River was dropping and Wills Creek remaining steady, but high, today as more rain fell in the two watersheds during the night and this morning.

At Luke and Cumberland the river fell about 1.6 feet from last night until this morning.

Wills Creek in Cumberland remained high at 7.5 feet. It had crested at 8.5 feet yesterday morning.

Heavy Since Saturday
Yesterday at 5:15 a. m. the river crested at 15.2 feet at the Wiley Ford river gauge. Today at 9 a. m. it was down to 10.62 feet, which was a 1.6-foot drop since yesterday at 7 p. m.

At Luke, the river had dropped 1.8 feet by this morning.

In that watershed, Julian G. Patrick, coordinating engineer for the Savage River Dam, reported New Germany during the night received .6 of an inch of rain; Frostburg, .36 of an inch, and Savage River Dam, .32 of an inch.

Cumberland had .35 of an inch which brings its total since Saturday to 3.03 inches. The normal for May in Cumberland is 3.66 inches.

To Remain Cool
And the Weatherman saw an end of rain by late tomorrow. He said the sun should break through in earnest Friday.

In Allegany and Garrett counties it is to be occasional rain and cool tonight, with lows of 36 to 42 degrees. Tomorrow is to be partly cloudy and warmer and Friday is to be fair and warmer.

The weather of the past few days has caused residents of this section to stock up their furnaces again to drive off the chill.

Farmers Concerned
Small streams have been up since the rain hit the already soaked earth, and some rural roads have been covered in spots.

Farmers are keeping a weather eye on crops. They are concerned over damage the rain may bring to late plantings of corn and other crops. The extreme wetness can cause rotting of seeds and small plants. Some hail and washouts have already caused some harm.

The extended outlook for the weather is for more rain Sunday or Monday, averaging from one-quarter to one-half inch.

Area Contestant Busy In Florida

Mrs. Maryland Lapp, Mrs. Colleen Lapp, was busy today in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., competing in four Mrs. America events.

This morning she dyed a tablecloth and napkins using a regular washer and drier. This afternoon was the table clearing and dishwashing event, with judges noting cleanliness and procedure.

Tonight she will compete in table setting, using the linens she dyed earlier in the day. The final event will be interviewing and judging for vocal delivery before a microphone.

Tomorrow will be cake baking and a yeast baking event, plus main meal preparation using baked ham with garnishings.

Mrs. Maryland's husband, Raymond Lapp, tomorrow will enter the golf tournament for the males of the various contestants.

Youth Pedestrian Hit By Vehicle

Richard Samuel Hedrick, 19-year-old Cresaptown youth, was hospitalized yesterday with injuries suffered when he was struck by an automobile while walking along U. S. Route 220 near his home.

Attaches, who said his condition was "good," stated Hedrick suffered lacerations of the head and hands and abrasions of the upper body.

State Police Trooper John H. Switzer, who investigated, said the driver of the car was William P. Wise, 73, of RD 5. Wise was apprehended a short distance from the scene of the mishap while driving south on the highway. He apparently did not know his vehicle struck the youth, Trooper Switzer said.

No charges have been preferred.

Sigma Phi Omega Society To Hear Talk By Educator

KEYSER — Joseph C. Gluck, director of student affairs at West Virginia University, will speak May 14 at the Sigma Phi Omega Honor Society dinner in Davis Hall at Potomac State College.

Among those present will be 21 newly elected Honor Society members who will be guests of honor, faculty members who, by virtue of their position, are members of the group, and active student members.

A native of Auburn, Ritchie County, Gluck attended Bethany College which granted him a Bachelor of Arts degree in 1938. He enrolled at the School of Divinity at Yale University and in 1942 received a Bachelor of Divinity degree.

Upon graduation, Gluck applied for a commission in the Naval Reserve and, pending a call to active duty, worked a few months for the Agriculture Extension Division of the University. He was a Navy chaplain from 1943 until 1946 when he left the service with the rank of lieutenant.

After the war he was active in the repatriation program for war dead, conducted by the armed forces in cooperation with veterans' organizations.

Gluck holds membership on the executive committee of the Yale Club of West Virginia, Committee on Campus Religious Activities, of the National Association of College Personnel Administrators, and the University Worker's Council of the National Naval Chaplains' Association. In the past few years he has been a resource leader for Rhododendron Girls' State at Jacksons Mill and an annual guest preacher for the West Virginia 4-H Camp.

Ann Phillips will serve as chairman for the program. She will be assisted by Patricia Hewitt, Lavonne Davis and Carol Mille. Sharon Douglas will take charge of table decorations, assisted by LaRue Frye, Rebecca Green, Edward Williams, Earl Cecil and Louis Kreh.

A. Trago Brust To Address PSC Pasquino Staff

KEYSER — A. Trago (Gus) Brust, director of public relations at the Luke mill of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, will speak at the Potomac State College Pasquino staff's annual press dinner Thursday, May 15, at Old Homestead Inn in Burlington at 7 p.m.

A graduate of Western Maryland College, Brust has had a varied career in journalism, beginning with part time work with his father who has been editor of the Frederick (Md.) News for 45 years.

He served as sports editor of the Frederick Post for a short time before going with the Cumberland News where he spent nearly 15 years, serving as reporter for the first six years, then city editor for two years, and finally managing editor for six years, all prior to joining the staff at the Luke mill.

Edward J. Williams, editor-in-chief of the Pasquino, will be toastmaster. Wilma Shields, co-news editor, will give the invocation.

Committee chairmen include: David Satterfield, reservations; Robert Pendergast, transportation; and Robert R. Dunn, programs. Dr. Elizabeth A. Atwater, Pasquino advisor, will announce appointments for the 1958-59 major staff positions.

Guests will be Dr. and Mrs. E. E. Church and Dean and Mrs. K. S. McKee.

Plan Programs

The annual Sigma Phi Omega Honor Society's Recognition Day will be presented next Wednesday at 10:30 a.m. in the college auditorium. Officers of Sigma Phi Omega and the Pan Hellenic Council will be in charge, as well as faculty members and students as required to make awards.

There will be a general review of the year's activities with emphasis on groups and individuals winning honor or recognition in any field. Of interest will be the dean's honor roll and the Pan-Hellenic awards which include the president's citation to the sorority having the highest cumulative scholastic average during the past year, and the dean's citation to the fraternity having the highest cumulative average for the same period.

Also of interest is the oath of office to be administered to Ronald Lawman, newly elected student body president, by David Satterfield, incumbent president.

Awards will be presented by the Agriculture Club, Delta Psi Omega dramatic honorary society and by the departments of the Army and Mathematics.

Coach Dana C. Lough will present awards to those who have been outstanding and deserve recognition in athletics. Included will be members of football, basketball, baseball and rifle teams.

In charge of preparing programs for the event are Dr. Phillips, chairman, Lavonne Davis and Carol Mills.

Dr. Nancy M. Miller, Honor Society faculty advisor, announces the front seats in the auditorium are reserved for those receiving awards. Samuel Deisler will be in charge of reserved seats.

Vocal Music Program Set At Frostburg

FROSTBURG—Charles I. Sager, chairman of the Department of Music at Frostburg State Teachers College, today announced that a vocal music festival will be held in Compton Hall auditorium Saturday from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m. with over 80 entrants in solo and ensemble numbers.

Schools represented will be Allegany and Fort Hill, Cumberland; Beall, Frostburg; Chestnut Ridge High School, Fishertown, Pa.; Flintstone High School and Southern High School, Oakland.

Adjudicators are Mrs. R. Monroe Harris, piano and organ department; Dr. Ward K. Cole, instrumental department; Sager, vocal department; Mrs. John Zornig, vocal teacher and choir director, Cumberland; and Frank Gamble, music supervisor, Allegany County.

Miss Joan Luttrell, president of the Maryland Singers, is student chairman. Guides will be members of the Maryland and Madrigal Singers. Oliver Rephann is stage manager, and Edward Lester and James Duffy have charge of lights.

Beginning at 9 a. m. and until lunch, various numbers will be presented by representatives of the schools. At 1:30 p. m. a vocal clinic will be held by Sager with soloists of the festival being used in the demonstration. At 2:30 Dr. Martin Rothstein, college physician, will present "The Physiology of the Vocal Instrument," and at 3 a film on the human vocal chords will be presented through the courtesy of the Bell Laboratories, New York. The festival will end at 4.

Plan Art Exhibit

The Art Club at State Teachers College will sponsor an art exhibit on the campus tomorrow. The exhibition, in three media, is by the Studio Guild artists: James D. Havens. On display will be five oils, five water colors, three small oils, three small water colors and 12 woodcuts. The exhibit will be held in Room 302 of Old Main.

The artist, Havens, was born in 1900 at Rochester, N. Y. He was educated in public and private schools, attended the University of Rochester and took art courses at the Rochester Athenaeum and Mechanic Institute Art School, now the Rochester Institute of Technology. Havens is best known at present for color woodcut prints.

The exhibit will be displayed by members of the FSTC Art Club under the direction of William Stewart, art instructor.

Lonaconing Acts To Appoint New Town Official

LONA CONING — Utilizing the opportunity offered under Maryland's expanded home rule, the Mayor and Council of Lonaconing have voted to amend their town charter so that a successor to the late Douglas G. Waddell can be appointed.

Section 347 of the Lonaconing town charter provides that, a special election shall be held to fill a vacancy on the council if more than six months remain in the unexpired term.

When Waddell died April 28 more than a year was left in his term.

The Mayor and Council, citing the cost of between $300 and $350 for a special election, have instructed Town Attorney James S. Gelly to prepare the necessary resolution so that a successor to Waddell can be appointed. This resolution is due for consideration at the May 19 council meeting.

Lonaconing will not have a regular election until the first Tuesday in May 1959. The mayor and four councilmen elected then will take office on the first Tuesday in June 1959.

Robert B. Thomas, town clerk, has been instructed to receive applications from persons who would like to be considered for the councilmanic appointment until 7:30 p. m. Monday, June 2.

Wilmoth F. Garlitz is mayor of Lonaconing. The three remaining councilmen are John G. Thomas, Robert M. Grove and Benjamin E. Zarger.

Brief Mention

The Lonaconing area baby clinic will be held tomorrow and Friday, May 16, at 9:30 p. m. The Health Center committee will meet Thursday, May 15, at 7:30 p. m.

15 Explorer Scouts Earn Merit Badge

KEYSER — In the Tri-Valley District rifle training program held at the indoor range at Potomac State College, 15 Explorer Scouts qualified for the marksmanship merit badge by earning a score of 50 in the prone position and 25 in the standing position.

Completing the requirements were: Westport Troop 30—Michael Nesser 77 and 54, Chris Seymour 52 and 29; Post 39 of Keyser—Joseph Sagal 76 and 27; Post 86 of Piedmont—Paul Bowman 72 and 32.

Six hours of instruction for all participants was under the supervision of Capt. Jack Fessenden and Capt. Thomas McBride, assisted by Sgt. Donald Brenneman. All range firing was supervised by Master Sgt. Robert Good and Sgt. Cecil G. Roy.

Four members of the college rifle team, Edward Dobson, Frank Hale, Robert Emery and Louis Emery, with three members of the ROTC, Robert Mintrop, Stewart Cuppet and Joseph Whitlode, had charge of weapons, targets, scoring, and safety.

Rifle instruction was held three afternoons and one evening. Of the 39 boys who reported for the initial session, 44 fired for record. Fifteen Explorers met minimum standards for the merit badge.

Three Scouts tied for first place with a total score of 131: Ronald Virts, Troop 82; Charles Pyles, Troop 58 and Michael Nesser, Troop 30. Second place was won by Carlton Swisher, Troop 58, with a score of 116. Third place honors went to James Broadwater, Post 26, with 112.

Other Explorers, in the order of their rank, were: Ronald Chicchitto, Post 39, 111; Thomas Crogan, Troop 82, 109; Gary Roby, Troop 58, 108; Kenneth Kolkhorst, Post 39, 104; Paul Bowman, Post 86, 104; Joseph Sagal, Post 39, 103; Robert Clements, Troop 59, 102; Richard McGinnis, Troop 83, 102; Chris Seymour, Troop 30, 81 and Douglas Durst, Troop 83, 76.

Dr. Paul Giffin, district advancement chairman, approves all advancements.

Mr. and Mrs. Rhea Ann Green and Adam Thompson visited in McKeesport.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bevan and family returned to Pontiac, Mich., after visiting at the home of Mrs. Francis Snyder, Hancock Street.

Terrance Woods has returned home from the Miners Hospital.

Blood Quota
Goes Over Top

LONACONING—A total of 113 pints of blood was donated yesterday when the Red Cross bloodmobile unit visited the quarters of Alvin C. Neat Post 5230, Veterans of Foreign Wars. The quota was 100 pints.

The amount is second only to the 331 pints collected six years ago on the first local visit of the unit.

Credit for the success of yesterday's blood collection is given to a responsive spirit on the part of the citizenry, following a recruitment program sponsored by the Lonaconing Rotary Club. Rev. Leslie Schwindt, rector of St. Peter's Episcopal Church, and Edward McPartland, local postmaster were recruitment chairman for the Rotarians.

Miss Nellie Sloan, branch chairman of the Red Cross here, commended all who helped.

There were 114 persons scheduled to give blood. Of this number 82 appeared, despite wet, rainy and uncomfortable weather. In addition there were 45 volunteer walk-ins. A total of 38 persons gave blood for the first time, including three Valley High School students, Kenneth Grandstaff, Lionel Baker and Donald Timney.

Twenty-one volunteer donors said they were replacing blood received from the Red Cross blood bank by close relatives or friends. Physicians rejected 24 persons due to colds, iron deficiency or other disabilities.

Cecil Metz of Barton, a regular donor started on his second gallon, and Mrs. Marian Daley of Lonaconing started on her third gallon.

Rev. Schwindt said much of the success was due to the intensive recruitment campaign conducted as a community-wide effort, using personal contact, individual solicitation by telephone and direct mail. He said, too, that considerable credit must be given to the volunteers who formed a transportation corps and provided cars for donors.

Assisting donors were Dr. James Wolverton of Piedmont, Dr. Martin Rothstein of Frostburg and Dr. Leslie Miles of Lonaconing.

Program Held

A musical program was presented in Valley High School auditorium today for the Orientation Day program when sixth graders of Midland, Barton and Central elementary schools visited Valley High.

Principal Jack A. Petry gave the "Greeting." Selections by the band, seventh and eighth grade chorus, and comments by James D. Preiskorn, guidance counselor, comprised the program.

Class schedules followed. A tour of areas was taken. The groups visited the cafeteria, gym and library.

Afterwards the groups returned to the auditorium for dismissal and the students were given a copy of "The Shield," Valley High School's newspaper published especially for the Orientation Day.

There were 45 students from Central, 42 from Barton and 26 from Midland who will be enrolled at Valley in September.

GOP Club Installed

The Lonaconing Republican Club installed officers recently. Past President Allan Abbott was the installing officer.

Officers are John B. Elliott, president; Alvin Gentry, first vice president; John D. Turnbull, secretary; Harry T. Warnick, treasurer; James Park, James Beeman, Irvin Neat, Nelson Humes, James Preston, trustees; William A. Wilson, historian; James Ritchie, sergeant-at-arms.

The house committee is composed of Allan Abbott, chairman, Nelson Davis, Elmer Stevenson, Ira Whittington and Samuel Smith; financial committee—Melvin Morton, Simon White, Chester Foote, Alex Bogie and William Tennent.

Legislative committee—Melvin Sloan, chairman, Isaac Love, John Shockey; investigating committee—William Gephart; publicity—Mrs. Margaret Hotchkiss; sick committee—Mrs. Elizabeth Gephart.

Entertainment committee—Mrs. Gertrude Albright, Mrs. Margaret McCormick, Mrs. Gladys Brown, Mrs. Katie Gard and Mrs. Agnes Shockey.

Senator Charles See spoke and candidates for offices in the primary election May 20 were introduced by Melvin Sloan, trial magistrate.

KEYSER—Using the theme "Around the World," Potomac State College will stage its 29th annual May Day festival Saturday at 2:30 p. m. (DST) in the college gymnasium in honor of Queen Gloria Ann Bryan, sophomore medical-secretarial major from Philippi.

Festivities will include a procession, coronation, pageant, of dancing and singing, and May Pole dance by women of the royal court. Miss Margaret E. Rafter, director of women's physical education, is in charge.

The program, open to the public, is traditionally set for the Saturday preceding Mother's Day.

As the procession enters the gymnasium, it will be headed by President E. E. Church and Dean K. S. McKee. There will follow the honorary court of high school students, each of 20 area schools sending a princess and escort as follows:

Piedmont, Ann Drane and Joseph Niland; Elkins, Glenna Phillips and Richard Frodsham; Fort Ashby, Marie Tracy and Carroll Leese; Valley (Lonaconing), Gail Broadwater and Blaine Blubaugh; Franklin, Diana Sites and Gene Boggs; Moorefield, Kay Judy Harper and Charles Halterman; Northern Garrett, Helen Loeche and Gary Frantz; Southern Garrett, Carolyn Spoerlein and Edward Sanders; Keyser, Agnes Dayton and Randolph Pifer; St. Peter's (Westport), Sandra Hill and Joseph Kelly; Bayard, Julia Shaffer and Christopher Scripps; Berkeley Springs, Beverly Risinger and John Place; Allegany (Cumberland), Beverly Cover and Charles Norris; Fort Hill (Cumberland), Brenda Waite and Fred Ringler; Bruce (Westport), Judith Lupton and Dorsey White; Washington Irving (Clarksburg), Jane Heaberlin and Buckner Horner; Ridgeley, Joyce Noel and Leon Hammond; Elk Garden, Mary Phillips and Ronald Bray; Kingwood, Mary Hoffman and Robert Smith; Unids, Sharon Stuart and Edward Rapping, and Petersburg, Freeda Rohrbough and Glenn Marshall.

There will follow the royal court of eight Potomac State princesses as follows: Misses Nora Egan, Ann Phillips, Jean Thompson, Mary Ann Leyland, Donalene Kelley, LaTue Frye, Wilma Shields and Judy Krapf. Escorts include Berlin Collett, Robert Richardson, Edwin O'Neil, David Satterfield, Gordon Kent, William Mankins, Jerry Wilson and Fred Nestor.

Maid of honor to the queen are Misses Carole Harper and Paula Kalbaugh whose escorts are Earl Cecil and Louis Bordo. Escorting the queen will be Harold Wimer, sophomore engineering major from Keyser.

Crownbearer will be Miss Linda Fessenden, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Jack C. Fessenden. Trainbearers include William Shelton, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Shelton, and Debra Lynn Birney, daughter of Sgt. and Mrs. Francis Birney.

Dean McKee will give the official welcome and President Church will place the crown on Queen Gloria Ann. Ronald Lawman, newly elected president of the student body, will present flowers on behalf of Student Council.

Included in the program will be a vocal solo, "Around the World in 80 Days" by Patricia Nuzum, followed by an American Indian dance by Beverly Bryan, Connie Gautschi, Patricia Griffith, Barbara Heldreth, Helen Miller and Catherine Yarnall; Mexican bull fight by Deborah Lacy and Regina Stenot; Scottish highland fling by Darley Broome, Marlene Hague, Suzi Karickhoff, Beverly Jo Lepley, Jane Melody, Eleanor Moyer and Evelyn Oss; Chinese dance by Diane Butler, Myrna Martz, Sharon Roby, Sheila Parsons, Linda Smoot, Sandra Waggoner and Joyce Kepingler; Hawaiian hula by Patricia Deison, Krista Leatherman, Martha Shriver and Elaine Smith; French Can-Can by Donna Ashenfelter, Barbara Combs, Margaret Frey, Sharon Douglas, Deborah Lacy, Anita Marstiller and Nola Reel.

The May Pole dance by the royal court will conclude the program. Donald Chicairell, sophomore pre-business major, will serve as narrator.

South Branch
Plan Opposed
By Staggers

Loss Of Property
Cited In Comments
By Congressman

Unalterable opposition to plans which would result in the flooding of property in the Second District of West Virginia has been voiced by Rep. Harley O. Staggers in Congress.

In his talk before the House, Staggers referred to a recent meeting held in Moorefield relative to water development plans for the Potomac River watershed, particularly to the South Branch of the river and tributaries in Hampshire, Hardy, Grant and Pendleton counties— which he represents.

Exploratory Nature

The Moorefield hearing was one of a series in an exploratory nature for the purpose of obtaining the views of local interests on requirements for flood control, water supply, pollution abatement and other related problems in the South Branch Basin for use in preparing a comprehensive water development plan for the entire Potomac River Basin.

Staggers said the proposal to construct a large reservoir for water supply has caused a great deal of controversy in the Second Congressional District. Residents, he stated, are alarmed because large dams would cause the flooding of valuable agricultural lands in that area, resulting in the loss of their homes and farms.

The congressman said engineers with whom he had talked informed him that no plans have been made as yet, and will not be until a thorough investigation of the situation has been made. Preliminary suggestions and plans, Staggers said he was informed, will be submitted that involve many different proposals.

Plan Progress Report

Staggers stated it was his understanding that the Army Engineers will submit a progress report in about a year which will contain a number of recommendations. After a single plan has been adopted, the project will be submitted for approval by Congress. This indicates that it will be many years before work on any South Branch watershed plan will commence, the congressman stated.

In any event, Staggers said he will oppose any project which would flood and cause the destruction of property in the Second District. "I shall oppose any proposal which would jeopardize the homes and farms of the citizens of the Eastern Panhandle of West Virginia," he continued.

Staggers concluded his remarks with the observation that there are other plans which can be worked out to assure an adequate supply of water for the city of Washington.

Brush Fire
Fine Imposed

ROMNEY—R. K. Vinson, 63, of Washington, was arraigned before Justice of the Peace O. W. Snarr at Romney last week on a charge of allowing a brush fire to escape to land owned by another person. He was fined $20 and $5 costs, and was also ordered to pay the cost of extinguishing the fire, which amounted to $175.82.

Joe D. Michael, Romney, forest protector for the West Virginia Conservation Commission, stated that Vinson started a brush fire on a farm he owns in the Mouser Ridge area, near Slanesville, April 19, and it was burning illegally during the West Virginia statutory fire season.

The fire spread to land owned by Ray Smoot, W. B. Haines and Lee Shanholts, and burned 175 acres and five outbuildings. Damage was estimated at $1300. Thirty acres of the burned over land was grass land and the remainder was in forest.

Sixty-two men, including the Slanesville Volunteer Fire Department, fought the blaze and a bulldozer was also put into service. Man hours spent totaled 350. Smoot, Haines and Shanholts will institute a law suit for damages against Vinson.

Garrett Voting Board Duo
Seeks GOP Committee Posts

OAKLAND—Two members of the Garrett County Board of Election Supervisors said yesterday they will not resign in order to run for election to the county's Republican State Central Committee in the May 20 primary.

H. Ward Hinebaugh, president of the election board, and Roger W. Bond, majority member, said they plan to sit tight unless Governor Theodore R. McKeldin should ask them to resign.

They said this seems unlikely in view of a recent statement by the governor on a similar situation in Howard County. At that time, the governor said he could see no objection to such dual job-holding because the office of state central committeeman is a party position, not a public office.

Controversy over the candidacy of Hinebaugh and Bond has existed almost since they filed for election to the committee. There are nine candidates for the four jobs to be filled.

Opinions Conflict

Hinebaugh and Bond said it has been suggested they should not hold office on the election board and run for party office at the same time.

They cited an April 16 opinion from Attorney General C. Ferdinand Sybert, which held that a candidate for a public office could continue to hold a position on his party's committee.

A week later, Assistant Attorney General Charles B. Reeves Jr., in answer to a question from a Howard County objector, wrote that a member of an election board should not run for any office in which there is a contest, because he would be canvassing the votes for his own election. Reeves cited an opinion to this effect from the late Albert Ritchie, who was attorney general from 1915 to 1918.

But at the same time, someone had asked Governor McKeldin about it, and his answer was different. The governor said: "I doubt that any politically active or informed person in Maryland is so naive as to feel a sense of shock at the candidacy of a member of the Board of Election Supervisors for a place on his party's state central committee."

"I see no impropriety whatever in such a candidacy."

Not A Public Office

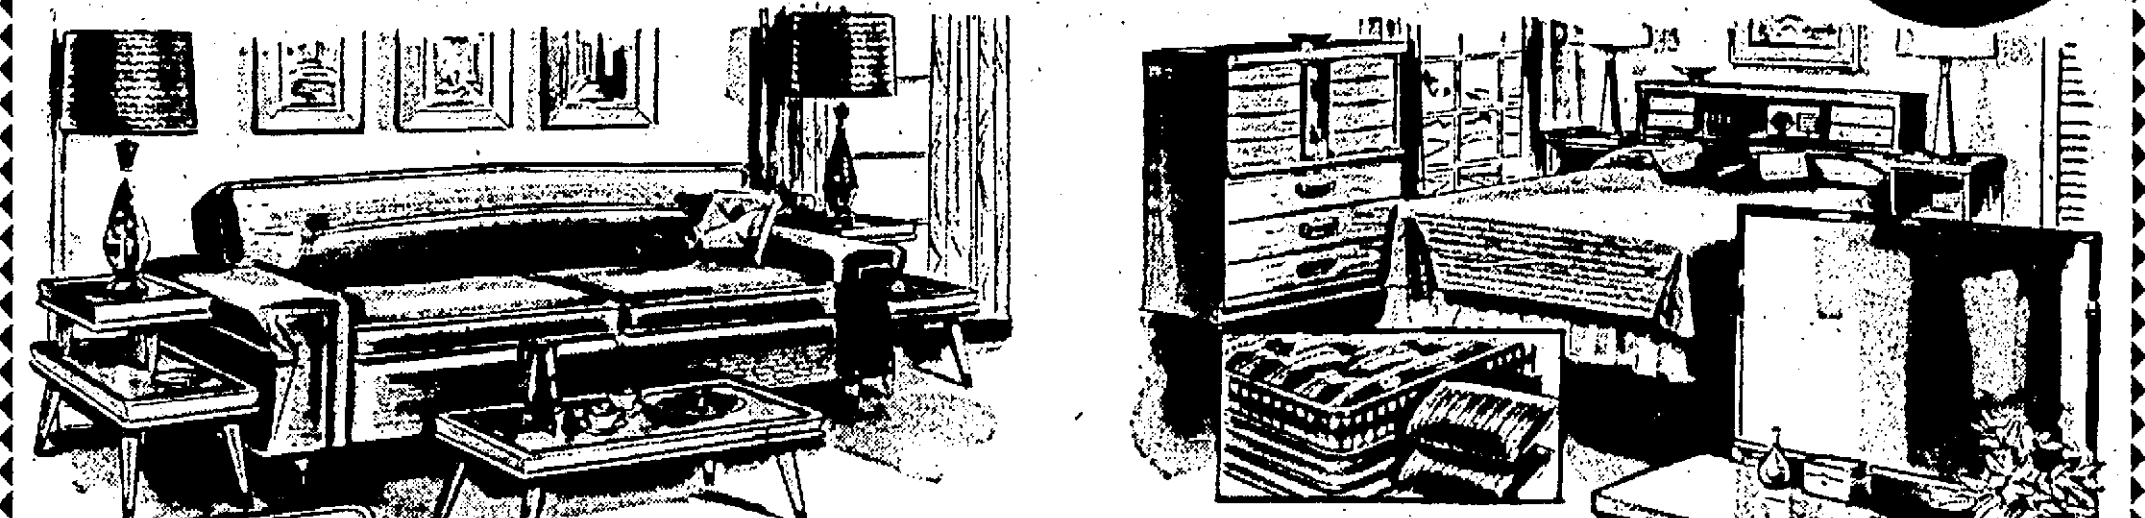

"Maryland law frankly recognizes election supervisors as representatives of their respective parties. I am of the opinion that all of the supervisors are active in the political affairs of their civil divisions. Without checking, I have no doubt that some of them—perhaps many of them—

"Doctor, Lawyer and Indian Chief." That line from the popular nursery rhyme was taken for a song title several years ago, made famous and held forth among the top pop tunes in the country.

Those same words could be applied to the many occupations and professions represented by the hundreds of entries being received by Bill Carscaden, general chairman, for the national sports car races here Sunday, May 18, at Municipal Airport.

There is no Indian Chief. At least, not yet. But there are many doctors and lawyers who have been taken with the sports car bug that has swept the nation in the past few years.

Drivers from all over the country will again pit their skills and ability in this year's big event. If the entire list were gathered together, it would represent enough professions and occupations possibly to supplement an entire community.

The field ranges from the exciting career of a newsreel cameraman to what is not as thrill-packed, but equally as important in modern living, that of a gas station owner.

There are Army, Navy and Air Force personnel, a newspaper reporter, engineer, used-car dealers, a president of a steel tubing corporation, hearing-aid manufacturer, jeweler, college students, salesmen, accountants, contractors, an artist, chemist, an importer, private investigator, a hospital owner, a civil defense director, a writer, advertising executive and even a zoo keeper.

That last one is probably the most fascinating. Bob Kemmer, only 23, has that job in Baltimore. He'll be driving a Cooper F III here and brings with him (no animals) firsts in class: at Marlboro and Lime Rock last season.

Another Baltimorean, Benjamin Fowke Jr., 25, is the newsreel cameraman. Times have changed through modern advancement since the pre-World War II days when the local theatres showed the cameramen grinding out by hand their pictures on the huge, clumsy, hard-to-manage cameras, but Fowke has been grinding out plenty of honors in his racing career. He had a first in the MG Nationals and an award for best production car last year in addition to a first overall for MGs in the '58 Marlboro Nationals.

Pair Of Prexies

Edwin J. Myers, one of the oldest drivers to submit an entry in the 52-year-old president of a company that manufactures hearing aids. Myers, who had a third in the Holland (N.Y.) Hill Climb last year, is also a nationally-known judge of purebred collie dogs. He'll be seen racing here in a Corvette.

George Reed Jr., really takes "pains" with his work, only they are those of the "window-pane" variety. Reed is president of a window company. He'll probably be looking through some of his own company's product as he drives his Ferrari around the 1.6 mile course. He was first in class at the Orange Bowl and at Nassau in '57 and first in class at Sebring, driving a Mercedes-Benz over the Florida layout.

Richard M. Lord, of Washington, may not be a "picture" driver but he has the artistic touch. Lord, who races a Fairthorpe Electron Roadster, is a professional artist. He has been in 32 events since 1955 and his roadster is only one of 55 cars of this make that have been built to date.

McCormick Replacing Mays As Giants' Hero

Pittsburgh Pushed Out First-Place Tie 7 To 0

By FRED DeLUCA
INS Sports Writer

Willie Mays was the hero of the Giants when they called New York home, but in San Francisco the cheers are for a teen-aged Californian named Mike McCormick.

The husky southpaw, paid a bonus of $65,000 by the Giants when he was still 17 years old, blossomed into the star of the Giant pitching staff last night when he shut out Pittsburgh, 7 to 0.

McCormick, who will reach his 20th birthday the day after the 1958 season ends, held the Pirates to three hits, all singles of the infield variety. Two other Pirates reached base, on a walk and an error, but only two Bucs managed to reach second base.

The 6-foot-2 185-pound hurler from the Los Angeles suburb of San Gabriel thus won his second 1958 game without a loss. Last week, he beat Philadelphia in another strong performance.

In 20 1/2 innings of pitching, McCormick has given up 13 hits and only five earned runs while striking out 12 and walking six. His earned run average is a very creditable 2.25.

Young Mike had a no-hitter until the fifth when Bob Clemente beat out an infield hit. Danny Kravitz smashed a hit off McCormick's glove in the eighth and Dick Groat outran a chop back of the mound in the ninth.

Takes Lead

The Giants, whose nine-run rally in the ninth day before fell short, knocked the Bucs out of a first-place tie by scoring five runs in the first inning. Bob Schmidt drove in three runs with a double. Later, Orlando Cepeda hit his eighth homer. It was his 19th run batted in and gave the 20-year-old rookie the league lead.

The Cubs took over sole possession of first place by beating Cincinnati, 4 to 0, as rookie right-hander Glen Hobbie limited the Redlegs to just four singles. Milwaukee stayed a half-game behind the Cubs by crushing the hapless St. Louis Cardinals, 12 to 6. Carl Furillo's two-out single off the Coliseum screen gave Los Angeles a 14-inning 7-to-6 win over Philadelphia.

In the American League, Boston beat the perplexed Chicago White Sox, 7 to 5. Cleveland at New York, Kansas City at Baltimore and Detroit at Washington all were rained out.

The Red Sox moved into sixth place by winning and pushed the White Sox 6 1/2 games back of the league-leading Yankees. Dick Gernert and Frank Malzone homered off Billy Pierce in the first inning. The White Sox tied the game but Boston broke loose for three runs in the fourth against Ray Moore. Murray Wall won in relief.

Needed Support

Hobbie received all the support he needed when Bobby Thomson hit a three-run homer off Cincinnati's Joe Nuxhall in the first inning. Hobbie now is 2-and-2 for the Cubs.

Frank Torre and Bob Hazle each drove in three runs for the Braves who built up a seven-run lead off Lindy McDaniel and Morris Martin in the first two innings. The Cardinals fought back until they were losing by a run when the Braves came to bat in the ninth.

Milwaukee promptly scored five runs to put the game out of reach and sew up Bob Buhl's fourth win in five decisions.

Stan Musial had two hits for the Cards who lost their sixth in a row. They haven't won since April 26 in Los Angeles and have been beaten in all four of their home games.

Furillo's poke off the screen ended a four-hour-and-six-minute marathon that was the first extra-inning game played in the Coliseum. It also gave Don Drysdale, who relieved in the 11th, his first win after five losses, and tagged Dick Farrell with the defeat.

Farrell entered the game in the sixth inning and gave up the tying Dodger run in the ninth on Philadelphia's runs came in the top of the sixth with Chuck Essegian and Ted Kazanski hitting homers.

West Virginia Faces Geneva Nine Tomorrow

MORGANTOWN (AP)—West Virginia University's baseball team, the loser of three games this week to persistent rainfall, will try to persist tomorrow. The 10-7 Mountaineers are scheduled to visit Geneva, Pa., College.

A Southern Conference double-header scheduled here with Virginia Military Institute was washed out twice. The Mountaineers, 4-2 in the conference, were to meet the Keydets Tuesday but rain caused postponement to today. However, WVU officials said yesterday that there was no hope for the twinned today because of wet grounds.

WINNING TALLY—Second baseman Charley Neal of Los Angeles, looking like he's fallen into a hole, flashes across the plate with the Dodgers winning run in the 14th inning last night against Philadelphia in Los Angeles. He scored from first on Carl Furillo's single against the left field screen. Phil's catcher is Span Lopata. (AP Photofax)

Brown Gives Ralph Dupas Shot World Title Tonight

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Lean Joe Brown, whose fists pack an explosiveness that doesn't coincide with his physical stature, gives young Ralph Dupas his chance to take away the world's lightweight championship here tonight.

A crowd approaching 11,000 and a gate that may reach $60,000 are in prospect, which would make it the largest draw for a fight in Texas history.

There was a slight lag in ticket sales in the New Orleans area, from where the two fighters come, because the bout will be nationally televised (ABC) starting at 7 p. m. EST and go into New Orleans. Houston will be blacked out.

Brown said he would be at about 134 1/2 lbs. Dupas, who reportedly has been having trouble making the weight, expects to hit the beams at 135 straight up.

It's the alleged weight problem that has caused Brown to predict he'll win by a knockout long before the 15-round limit is reached. He says Dupas, who has been fighting middleweights and welters, will come into the ring weakened.

Tris Speaker Can't Recall 3000th Hit

Ceremony Planned For Stan The Man; Cobb's Record Stands

NEW YORK (AP)—When Stan Musial collects his 3,000th base hit in a week or so, they'll probably stop the game and present the ball to him in an appropriate ceremony.

Undoubtedly it will rest forevermore in the Hall of Fame at Cooperstown or on the Musial mantelpiece.

Things weren't always like that. Tris Speaker, one of the seven men to hit safely 3,000 or more times in the majors, is here with the Cleveland Indians. Happy to see Musial closing in on the 3,000 mark, Speaker admits he can't even remember when he did it.

"I couldn't tell you when I hit it or where or who the pitcher was," said Speaker, to a batting coach with the Tribe. "It didn't seem so important to get that hit in those days. Not so much was said about it."

Speaker finished his great career in 1928 with a total of 3,515 hits and a lifetime average of .344 for a seat in the Hall of Fame. The only man with more hits was Ty Cobb with 4,191. Others in the group: Nap Lajoie (3,251), Paul Waner (3,152), Honus Wagner (3,430), Eddie Collins (3,313) and Cap Anson (3,081).

Martinez Plans Educating His Left Hook, Jab

BOSTON (AP)—Vince Martinez indicated today he plans to depend on an educated left hand to bring him the world's welterweight boxing title in his meeting with Virgil Atkins June 6 in St. Louis.

"I'm going to work on my left jab and hook," Martinez said as he headed for serious training at Grossinger's in New York.

Martinez hardly worked up a sweat as he stopped Armand Savoie of Montreal in 48 seconds of the seventh round of a scheduled 10-rounder Tuesday night before a boozing crowd of 1,387 at Mechanics Building.

Martinez won every round as he jabbed and hooked lightly with his left. After Referee Joe Zapustas warned both to fight for the second time and the fans began walking out, Martinez opened up in the seventh.

A left-right combination sent Savoie reeling across the ring. Zapustas examined Savoie quickly and allowed the bout to continue—until another salvo from Vince's fists staggered the Canadian.

Duke Produces Another Track Star In Weisiger

DURHAM, N. C. (AP)—Duke University has had two outstanding track men carrying its colors in recent years. Dave Sims, who is finishing his eligibility this spring, has taken up where brilliant Joel Shankle left off.

The six-foot, 170-pounder from Pittsburgh is the man to beat in the mile event in the Atlantic Coast Conference meet here Friday and Saturday.

He came up with a 4:10.7 effort against North Carolina last Saturday. That compares with the ACC record of 4:09.4 set two years ago by North Carolina's Jim Beatty.

Musial Starts Third Cycle Despite Injured Shoulder

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK (NEA)—Any day or night now the seven members of the very select 3,000 Hit Club will have to move over to make room for Stanley Musial.

The stroking of that 3,000th blow officially will place Stan Musial where he belongs . . . with the giants of the game—Cap Anson, Ty Cobb, Eddie Collins, Nap Lajoie, Tris Speaker, Honus Wagner and Paul Waner.

Those Who Didn't

If you don't believe that this is a singular achievement, consider the illustrious combatants who didn't make it. The list includes such renowned names as Fred Clarke, Zack Wheat, Rogers Hornsby, Babe Ruth, Frank Frisch, Pie Traynor, Harry Heilmann, Mel Ott, Bill Terry and Charley Gehringer. And Stan the Man is going stronger than ever at 37. A lost season of peak production while serving in the Navy didn't stop him.

One more and Musial will have tied the immortal Honus Wagner's mark of eight National League batting championships, but his record-wrecking and terrific early foot this spring is not the most unusual story in connection with the wonderful guy who came to the St. Louis Cardinal organization out of Donora, Pa., High as a left-hand pitcher.

The amazing Musial is launching a third baseball life with a bad left shoulder.

Last fall it was whispered around that Musial's brilliant career might be at an end. Taking a king-size cut at the ball and missing it, Stan pulled the shoulder which he injured as a kid pitcher playing the outfield.

The first injury, incurred in tumbling after a ball in Orlando when he was 19 and a member of the Daytona Beach club of the Class D Florida State League, was a break in more ways than one. It probably put him in the

U. S. Players Missed 'Booing' In Russia

MOSCOW (AP)—The one thing American basketball players missed on their just-completed tour of the Soviet Union was the good old U. S.-style "razzberry."

No booing by Russian spectators. No barracking. No show of favoritism.

"The Russian fans were almost too polite," said Bert Born, star of the Peoria, Ill., Cats. "We sometimes felt we were playing the other game."

The girls found the Soviets leaned over backwards to be good sports.

"When the Soviet girls beat us they did it gracefully," said Margaret Holloran of the Nashville (Tenn.) Business College team. "When they lost the crowds still cheered us."

Relations were so good between the two teams during the 10-day visit that the Americans immediately invited Russian teams to play in the United States next winter.

Preliminary plans were made for a series of U.S.-Russian games, starting Feb. 1. Games would be played in Denver, Peoria, Kansas City, San Francisco and New York.

The American teams headed homeward today.

Silky Arrives In Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP)—Silky Sullivan did better on his trip from Louisville to Baltimore than he did in the Kentucky Derby: he trailed winner Tim Tam but finished in a dead heat with eighth-place Gone Fishin'.

The golden-coated pride of California arrived late yesterday to prep for the 82nd running of the Preakness May 17 at old Pimlico. Derby winner Tim Tam of Camel Farms arrived earlier in the day but Silky came in on the same express car with Llangollen Farm's Gone Fishin', who ran eighth in the derby.

The come-from-behind colt finished 12th in the derby but trainer Reggie Cornell predicted he would "run back to his true form here at Pimlico."

"My horse just did not run his race in the Derby," said Cornell. "He just forgot to punch."

The big California colt also had a crowd of about 150 on hand for his arrival. Tim Tam, on the other hand, arrived in virtual solitude except for trainer Jimmy Jones.

Leon Hart Retires, To Enter Radio Field

DETROIT (AP)—Leon Hart, whose 12-year football career brought him headaches and headlines, has stepped down as an active player.

The former Notre Dame All-American end closed out eight turbulent seasons with the Detroit Lions Wednesday to devote more time to business and a new job that will keep him close to the world champions.

The huge 23-year-old, winner of the Heisman and Maxwell awards during his collegiate days, signed a one-year contract as a color commentator on the Lions' radio and television broadcasts. He owns an automobile dealership and also has been in the paving business.

Leaders Still Head Bowling Tournament

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—The leaders in all categories at the American Bowling Congress Tuesday enjoyed another day in which their domination was not seriously endangered.

Ace Mitchell's Shur Hooks of Akron, Ohio, led the evening's open team squad with a 2903 set, far off the 3210 pace set by the St. Louis Falstaffs on April 10.

Rigney Says Kid Was Good Against Bucs

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—"The kid was good. A good arm and he never lost any of his stuff as he fired bullets. Sure he's going to be in the regular pitching rotation."

Manager Bill Rigney was expounding happily Tuesday night about the San Francisco Giants' $60,000 bonus left-handed, 19-year-old Mike McCormick who had just shut out the Pittsburgh Pirates 7-0 on three infield hits.

That setback dropped the Pirates, who had pounded the ball hard in other games on their Western swing, out of first place and tied up the San Francisco series at two games apiece. Today comes the finale as Pittsburgh's Bob Friend with a 4-0 record faces Curt Barclay, 1-0.

McCormick didn't appear unduly excited as he answered "yes" on a half dozen occasions as newsmen asked if that was his best game.

"Sure, it has to be," the youngster from San Gabriel, Calif., declared. "It's also the first game I've finished and won. I finished one last year against these same Pirates but lost 2-0."

Cleveland Boss Satisfied With Team's Showing

NEW YORK (AP)—Cleveland General Manager Frank Lane today expressed surprise and satisfaction over the Indians early showing and promised the team would improve.

"I think we have a good chance to finish in the first division," he said. "Frankly, when I took over the club last winter, I didn't believe we would finish any higher than our sixth place finish in 1957."

"The way we looked in spring training scared me to death. It was the worst looking club I'd ever seen. The pitching was horrible. The hitting was awful and the fielding was worse."

"But after we weeded out some of them and Bobby Bragan got what constituted his team, we began to look better. I honestly believe that we can build the team up—if the fans will be tolerant—to the point where we will become a contender within the next year or two."

Pittsburgh and is the other half of one of the many husband-wife combinations scheduled to drive here. Mr. Dasey, an engineer, and his wife will be racing in a MGA roadster.

That's a sample of the varied backgrounds of some of the entrants. There are dozens of others who will be represented here over the three-day program.

None, however, except those will be maneuvering around the tricky course for the big racing teams, are strictly professional drivers. The sports car is mainly a hobby—an expensive one—but one replete with thrills for the thousands of racing spectators and one bringing personal satisfaction for the participant.

First Pitch Grand Slam Skowron's Top Homer

(Another major league star writes about MY BIG HIT.)

By BILL SKOWRON
NEW YORK (AP)—My big hit came with the bases loaded as a pinch hitter in Chicago last summer (July 14).

It was a first pitch, a fast ball, by Jim Wilson of the White Sox. All my relatives were watching. I was born in Chicago and lived there for 19 years.

But it was more important than that because when we went into Chicago the Yankees were leading by three games. After we lost the first game of this Sunday double-header we were only two in front.

We were losing 4-0 when I hit the grand slam, the third of my career, in the ninth inning of the second game. Tommy Byrne hit another homer in the ninth and we won, 6-4.

I hit a bases loaded home run in the final Ebbets Field World Series game in 1956 against Roger Craig but we were winning that game, 5-0, and won it, 5-0, when Johnny Kucks pitched a three-hit shutout.

I like to think the one in Chicago meant more. We went on to win the American League pennant by eight games. It started us on a five-game winning streak and put us six games up on Chicago and the White Sox never could catch us.

College Cage Stars To Tour U. S., Europe

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP)—There is a plan afoot to send Will Chamberlain and several other star basketball players on a barnstorming tour of the United States and Europe this summer as professionals, the Lawrence Journal-World has reported.

The Journal-World said it understood the tour's sponsors are trying to bolster Chamberlain with such stars as Elgin Baylor of Seattle, Guy Rodgers of Temple, John Crawford of Iowa State, Bob Boozer of Kansas State and Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati. Chamberlain, Baylor, Rodgers and Robertson are All-American players.

Chamberlain and his coach, Dick Harp, were not available for comment. Cincinnati University Coach George Smith said Tuesday night that "Oscar Robertson is not going (on the tour). We've talked it over and he's not going."

Loibel To Head Local Knights' Bowling Circuit

Jack Loibel Sr. was presented the annual Sportsmanship Award and elected president at the dinner-meeting of the Knights of Columbus Bowling League Monday night.

Newly elected officers are: Loibel, president; Bert Lawler, treasurer; and John McGeady, secretary.

Rev. Marius Elsner, pastor of St. Peter and Paul Church, gave the invocation and Rev. Robert Hopkins, assistant pastor of St. Mary's Church, pronounced the benediction. The dinner was served by the ladies of St. Peter and Paul Church.

Thirty-two members of the four teams in the league attended the annual affair.

Members of the Grand Knights team, 1957-58 champions, who were honored on the occasion, are: Capt. Emmett Fahey, Don Farrell, Donnie Madden, Bert Lawler, Jack Steiner, Donald Palmer and Jack Loibel Jr.

A team from the local Knights of Columbus Council will go to Butler, Pa., Sunday, May 18, to roll a special match with the Butler team in the K. of C. Home there.

LaSalle High Will Face Ten Gridiron Foes

Moorefield And Altoona Catholic Added For 1958

Two new teams have been added to the LaSalle High School football schedule for next year. The Explorers will play ten games in the fall.

The new addition to the Explorers' slate are the Moorefield High Yellow Jackets and Altoona Catholic High School. LaSalle last played Moorefield in 1946 and Altoona in 1945.

Moorefield and LaSalle played six times from 1941 through 1946 and the Yellowjackets from Hardy County lead in the series with three wins against one loss and two tie games. The schools played scoreless ties in 1941 and 1946.

From 1929 through 1945, LaSalle and Altoona Catholic met 12 times on the gridiron and the Pennsylvanians held a 6-4 edge in wins. Scoreless ties were played in 1929 and 1940. Altoona won the last game in 1945 by the score of 26-18 after taking three straight kickings by scores of 30-0, 44-19 and 33-6.

Brother Thomas, athletic director, announces the Explorers will play six games at home with Fort Hill, Delone Catholic of McSherrys town, Pa., Bedford, Pa., Allegheny, Ridgeley and Moorefield. Contests away from home are with Berlin, Pa., Keyser, Altoona Catholic and Beall.

The schedule for LaSalle's 31st football campaign:
Friday, Sept. 12—Fort Hill
Saturday, Sept. 13—Delone Catholic
McSherrys town, Pa., home
Friday, Sept. 19—Berlin, Pa., away
Friday, Oct. 2—Bedford, home
Friday, Oct. 9—Keyser away
Friday, Oct. 16—Allegheny away
Friday, Oct. 23—Open
Friday, Oct. 24—Allegheny, home
Friday, Oct. 31—Ridgeley, home
Saturday, Nov. 8—Moorefield, home
Friday, Nov. 14—Altoona Catholic away

Summerlin Eyes Crack At Floyd

DETROIT (AP)—A crack at heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson may be the prize if Johnny Summerlin can defeat Nino Valdes in their 10-round bout here May 24.

Promoter C. W. Smith said he has talked with Gus D'Amato, the champion's manager, and has been assured that Summerlin "will be included high in our plans" if he gets by the veteran Cuban. Summerlin once was ranked high among the heavyweights, contenders but dropped out of the ratings when he was idle for a year because of managerial difficulties. He has won four straight in his "comeback."

Musial

things easy in a benefit exhibition game in Key West three weeks before he reported for spring training.

The colled spring swing was still there, however, and the lump on his shoulder had gone down and Musial was off on a consecutive-game hitting streak in his quickest start in 16 fabulous years.

Could Have Won Others
Musial easily could have won another batting title or two. He played practically the entire season of 1947 while taking penicillin shots to freeze a cancerous appendix and suffering from ugly tonsils. He underwent an appendectomy and a tonsillectomy the day after the season closed. The pitchers couldn't handle him while he was sick, so the next year when Stan Musial was well again he resumed adding to his string of batting championships.

The guy could fall out of bed in the middle of the night and half asleep triple to right center.

Jim Peebles Resigns Maryland Coaching Job

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Jim Peebles, assistant football coach at the University of Maryland the past two years, has accepted the head coaching job at Covington, Tenn. High School, William W. Cobey, director of athletics, announced today.

Peebles, a native of Columbia, Tenn., and a graduate of Vanderbilt University in 1948, will also teach history at Covington. The appointment is effective June 15.

The former Washington Redskins end came to Maryland in the spring of 1946 and has been the Terps' end coach. Along with his coaching duties, Peebles has been the academic adviser for the student athletes. It was under his guidance that the Maryland athletic department inaugurated a study hall that has resulted in the highest academic record for Terps athletes in a long time.

Peebles indicated that he had planned to return to Covington because of business reasons in the future, but the Covington coaching job came sooner than anticipated. Peebles said he is leaving the university with reluctance. "It has been one of the most pleasant experiences of my coaching career."

Tommy Mont, Maryland head coach, said Peebles' leaving was a great loss. He said that it would be a difficult job to find a replacement for him. Mont said he had no immediate plans for a replacement, but that he would start immediately looking for another coach.

Bob Crosby Is Como Summer Replacement

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS)—It's definite: Bob Crosby takes over for Perry Como's summer vacation. Goodson-Todman have still another quiz, "Play Your Lunch." We're sick to death of give-aways and trivial quizzes. An ironic commentary on panel quizzes and a studio audience's opinion of them came on "Tell The Truth" last night when one panelist simply stated he couldn't engage in the guessing-game because he knew the identity answer: The studio audience broke out in wild applause at this simple display of routine honesty.

Dorothy Hart of "Pantomime Quiz" is a beautiful girl, even if she dresses like an updated Greek goddess. "Treasure Hunt" should look in one of those prize boxes for an evening sponsor. The George Gobel gamut of lasslessness ran from fertilizer to graves to more biological description of what a marching trombonist does with his instrument's sliding valve. Red Skelton is too good a clown to go in for swish stuff. Bill Morrow, Bing's (and Sinatra's) TV writer, is in town to work on a possible spec for Bing, and perhaps an idea involving Bing's four sons. Pat Suzuki is a tremendously talented young singer but she's getting terribly tied up in vocal and physical mannerisms. Simple is better. Just sing, girl.

TV row agrees Ed Sullivan copped the coup of the year in tying up comics Wayne and Schuster for 26 weeks. Some 200 actors now will get $2,000 a week in residual salaries from "Follow That Man," new title of Ralph (Campbello) Bellamy's pioneer TV private eye series. After an official luncheon yesterday Bellamy told us a what-price, fame-and-prizes lesson. He was seated next to a stranger who asked Ralph what organization he represented. "Actor's Equity," Bellamy replied (Ralph is president of the actor's union). "Hmmm," the man hummed, in deadly earnest. "It sounds subversive."

NBC's secret weapon against Playhouse 90 next year will be Groucho Marx, whose TV quiz will light Thursdays at 10. Groucho will take his old comedy, "Time For Elizabeth," to New England for three summer stock weeks.

Advertisers Turn Cool To Dramas

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (INS)—Advertisers, who determine so much about the nature of television, are turning cool to live anthology dramatic series. For example, Kraft Television Theater (NBC) makes its 11th anniversary on the air tonight, will disappear from the home screen next September.

Studio One (CBS, Monday nights), which completes nine years on television next week, also will be discontinued next September. Matinee Theater (NBC, weekdays) will be shelved within a month.

At this writing trade sources say that Climax (CBS-TV, Thursday nights) either will be discontinued or drop to an alternate week basis next season. What will take their places? Two half-hour programs will succeed Kraft Theater. One will star Milton Berle. The other probably will be a Western.

Studio One will be replaced by a weekly film program produced by Desilu Productions, Inc. It will be a series of musicals, comedies, westerns, dramas and you name it.

Matinee Theater which finally bowed to flagging sponsor interest, is expected to be succeeded by two half-hour soap operas.

It would be easy to shed a few bitter tears over the death of so much live television drama, for there is no question that live drama is generally superior to film on the home screen. But fretting over the matter will not change the fact that next season will see relatively little of it on television.

The trend does not mean that the viewing public is tired of live drama or the networks opposed to it. Rather, it simply means that a variety of reasons choose to spend their TV advertising dollars on other types of programs.

It's a forceful example of the great power advertisers wield over the nature of the television programs you watch.

Street Access Conference Being Sought

Mayor Roy W. Eves said he hopes to arrange a conference leading to a satisfactory agreement with the Western Maryland Railway on access to Canal Street for the People's Furniture Store.

The street was closed from a point 60 feet south of Baltimore Street by an ordinance adopted by the Mayor and Council Monday. The action clears the way for a 100-car parking lot on South Mechanic Street which the railway will lease for commercial operation.

Mayor Eves said he will attempt to arrange a meeting between representatives of the railway and the store owned by Joseph H. Reinhart at the intersection of Baltimore and Canal streets.

Meanwhile the city has appointed commissioners to assess benefits or award damages to property owners who may be affected by the closing of the street.

They are C. Glenn Watson, James Perrin and Howard M. Spiker.

The commissioners, according to the ordinance, must give 10 days notice of their meeting to affected property owners.

Group To Attend State Meeting

The Allegany County Health Department will send a delegation to the annual meeting of the State Health Department in Baltimore tomorrow and Friday.

Heading the delegation will be Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer, and Mrs. Jennie J. Gramme, administrative assistant.

Public health nurses attending will be Mrs. Vanda McGann, Mrs. Gladys Pitzer, Mrs. Mary Jane Frye, Mrs. Helen Vogel, Mrs. Lois Jackson, Mrs. Margaret Hanson and Mrs. Betty Lou Lindner.

The sanitation section will be represented by J. Byron Dowling, J. Walter Patterson and Gaylord Brooks, Charles Miller, Garrett County sanitarian, will accompany the delegation.

The Big Lie Proves Costly

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—After Jesse Ivy purchased a cafe here, four men drove up in a truck. They loaded a huge icebox and 2,000 feet of lumber onto the vehicle, explaining it belonged to the former owner, Earl Martin. Several days later Ivy heard some disconcerting news. The men weren't working for Martin; they were stealing the stuff.

Cord of Thanks

I wish to express my sincere thanks to my friends and relatives for their kind words and sympathy during the illness of my dear wife, Mrs. Mary Bailey, who passed away on May 4, 1958.

We wish to thank our neighbors and friends for the kindness and sympathy shown to us in our bereavement. The death of our beloved wife and sister, Alice Louise Johnson, was a great loss to all of us. We also wish to thank the many friends who sent flowers, the pallbearers, those who loaned cars and all others who assisted.

John T. Johnson, husband.
Edna Cox, sister.

Your Horoscope

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Thursday, May 8, 1958

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries) — You can handle anything that comes your way now. Judgment should be good. Don't let one minute be wasted in regrets or irritability. YOUR talents are needed.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus) — High on your "must" list today are steadiness of purpose and effort; also gentleness of manner, emotional control. Maintain an even pace and be fair to all.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini) — Especially favored now: teaching, writing, in reporting, research, medicine, children's affairs. Be constructive and understanding in all things.

JUNE 22 to JULY 21 (Cancer) — Keep mentally alert and you should be able to make worthwhile progress now. Don't yield to pessimism under any circumstances.

JULY 22 to AUGUST 23 (Leo) — Be cautious about giving opinions or advice. You should find many advantages; however, if you handle responsibility rightly, a day that will go just as YOU direct it.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo) — Day calls for caution, especially in business and finance. Tax disbursement required, too. Avoid taking needless monetary risks or making hard-to-keep promises.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra) — Don't wait to be asked! Wherever you can, step forward with a better idea or an improved method at which Libra often excels. Be careful if traveling, making agreements. Don't overtax yourself.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 23 (Scorpio) — Excellent indications for personal and business affairs. Be enthusiastic about day's program. Guard health by not overtaxing yourself.

NOVEMBER 24 to DECEMBER 23 (Sagittarius) — Be careful of your tactics; be cautious — especially in legal matters, spending, handling others' affairs. Make a killing guarantee, launching new ventures. Remember, haste CAN make waste. Control enthusiasm.

DECEMBER 24 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn) — A good day for advancing personal interests. Observe situations, seek facts and don't go off on tangents. Make time count.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius) — Before you start any venture, take heed of possible opposition. However, the moment plans call for thoughtful preparation now! Don't let present limitations discourage you.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces) — This beautiful Neptune day urges you to put forth your finest efforts. Unraveling mysteries, investigating phenomena, gathering unique knowledge favored. Resist extremes but forge ahead progressively.

YOU BORN TODAY are on the intellectual side, with diversified talents and an abundance of capability for practical, scientific, artistic matters. You can become outstanding architects, builders, sculptors, painters, engineers, understanding managers of public institutions, children's organizations; skilled carpenters, mechanics; good military personnel. Many in the opera field are Taurus-born, and many orators and powerful speakers are also from this sector.

Super Safety Play Rewards

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Here's an example of a super safety play from Marshall Miles' book.

East wins the opening heart lead with the ace and returns the seven. South gathers in the trick with the jack and notes that he is in a mighty good contract. It is a cinch that West doesn't have more than one spade and a five-diamond contract would wind up in the ashcan. Hence, if South is a smart duplicate player he will make sure of his nice four-no-trump contract.

How does he go about it? Easy. If he has seen all the cards and just as easy if he wants to play safe. He leads a diamond and ducks completely in dummy. When East shows out his caution is rewarded. He must make six diamonds, two hearts and two clubs and his contract. Of course, if East should happen to gather in the trick with a singleton nine or ten, South will have lost a trick but he could well afford it. As mentioned already, South was in a fine contract.

Furthermore, the safety play is not at all far-fetched. East had bid up to four hearts all by himself vulnerable. He certainly would hold at least 11 cards in the major suits and could easily be void of diamonds.

Both vulnerable:
East 1 N.T. Pass 3 N.T.
South 4 Pass 4 N.T.
Opening lead — 3

Both vulnerable:

Q—The bidding has been:

You, South, hold:

What do you do?
A—Bid three diamonds. You are on your way to a slam but should set the diamond suit as a starter.

Your partner continues with a bid of three no-trump. What do you do now?

Device Said Aid For Speechless

NEW YORK (INS)—An electronic voice-box was added today to the armament of artificial parts for disabled persons.

It takes the place of missing vocal cords which have been removed because of cancer of the larynx—voice box.

Fifty thousand Americans have had their voice boxes removed because of cancer. Another six to seven thousand undergo the operation each year.

Many of these belong to "Lost Cord" clubs and sit around burping at each other trying to learn esophageal speech—an imitation of real speech accomplished with the help of the esophagus, or so-called food-pipe.

Developers of the device said it also makes intelligible speech possible in persons who have lost their voices because of a cold or upset digestion.

The Aurora Borealis and the Aurora Australis are displays of light in the high levels of the atmosphere which at times of its track to a metals time become very bright and firm. Too bad they can't keep it colorful.

GEE, COUSIN STEVE! I'D GREATLY ADMIRE T' ORGANIZE A POLO TEAM...

BUT I DON'T, RIGHTLY KNOW THE GAME!

WELL, POTEEET, KITTEN, YOUR GREATEST LACK WOULD BE FONIES, BUT SINCE HAPPY EASTER, WILL SUPPLY YOUR RECOUNTS, YOU'RE IN BUSINESS!

WHAT IF THE PRINCIPAL OF THE HIGH SCHOOL WON'T LET ME PLAY 'CAUSE I'M A GIRL?

THIS WON'T BE AN ORGANIZED SCHOOL SPORT—BUT YOU WILL ALL BE STUDENTS AT CALDRON HIGH!

WHO WILL WE PLAY?

IF YOU CAN'T FIND OPPONENTS, YOU'LL AT LEAST HAVE CAREER TRAINING! YOU CAN BUY SOME RED PANCE MAKEUP AND GET LOSERS REPLACING ALL THE INDIANS THEY KILL OFF ON THOSE TV WESTERNS!

COME IN, MR. KIRBY. I HAVE BEEN EXPECTING YOU...

YES, FOLLOW ME...

THEN SHE MAY KNOW WHERE THEY'VE TAKEN TEELA. CAN YOU LEAD ME TO THIS CAVE?

THE OLD WOMAN IN THE CAVE... SHE MADE ME TELL... THE OTHERS WERE WITH HER.

WHY IS IT YOUR FAULT THAT PRINCESS TEELA AND THE TREASURE ARE COME, CLAY?

MAKE IT AN EVEN HUNDRED!

I'LL BET YOU FIFTY DOLLARS!

MEY! WHAT'S ALL THIS BETTING ABOUT?

RELAX, POP! SAMPSON'S FATHER AND HIS RELATIVES ARE ON THEIR WAY!

I MADE A HUNDRED-DOLLAR BET WITH SAMPSON THAT YOU COULD LICK HIM FOR ALL HIS RELATIVES SINGLEDHANDED!

FOR HOURS HE WALKS THE QUIET STREETS STUDYING THE FEW AMERICAN FACES VISITING THE BALMAIN NAYNE SHOPS.

LIKE LOOKING FOR A NEEDLE IN A HAYSTACK. MAY EVEN RECOGNIZE 'EM FROM THOSE DESCRIPTIONS!

LEAVING FAY WITH FRIENDS, EASY BEGINS HIS SEARCH OF CHINATOWN.

IF THEY DO HANG OUT DOWN HERE, IT'S PROBABLY OFF THE BEATEN TRACK OF TOURISTS. I'LL TRY THE LITTLE STREETS PARALLEL TO GRANT AVENUE...

I'M TRYING TO LOCATE A PHILA WHO WEARS AN ANCIENT CHINESE RING WHO HAD BOUGHT HERE. SANDY HAIR... MEDIUM HEIGHT... PROMINENT JAW... VERY MUSKY VOICE.

SORRY, DO NOT RECALL SUCH A MAN!

State Police Trainees Here

Four trooper-probationaries of the Maryland State Police have been assigned to the LaVale Barracks for field training during May, according to Lt. W. E. O'Hara, commander of the local unit.

The four, Troopers Thomas S. Bosley, Francis X. Bachmaier, Thomas L. Wood and William L. Newcomer, will accompany older members of the LaVale force to observe tactics prior to returning to the State Police School at Pikesville to complete their training, Lt. O'Hara explained.

Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the LaVale Barracks, and First Sgt. Harry A. Holsinger are attending a supervisory school at the Pikesville headquarters which will end tomorrow, the barracks commander said.

Lt. O'Hara attended a similar training session last week at Pikesville.

Asian Shots 65 Per Cent Effective

University Professor Makes Report On Preliminary Findings

BALTIMORE—A Johns Hopkins University professor said last night that preliminary findings show vaccination for Asian influenza to be 40 to 65 per cent effective in a large field study made last fall.

The project involving approximately 3,000 persons was described as the largest controlled field study of the flu vaccine ever made on a so-called open population. Studies elsewhere in the country have been with special groups such as students or institutional inmates.

Dr. Raymond Seltzer, assistant professor of epidemiology in the Hopkins School of Hygiene and Public Health, outlined the project at a meeting of the school's Society of Hygiene.

He emphasized that his report offered only an initial analysis of data and many months of work are needed for a complete evaluation.

The figures were derived from comparison of vaccinated and unvaccinated after an epidemic of acute respiratory illness with fever from Sept. 30 to Nov. 24. Slightly more than half of the participants received flu vaccine and the remainder were given a placebo—an inactive solution resembling the vaccine.

The study was carried out in Maryland's Montgomery County, near Washington, D. C., in cooperation with county and state health officials and support from the U. S. Public Health Service.

Ohio To Hit Flood Stage

CINCINNATI—The rain-swollen Ohio River may rise to one to two feet above the 52-foot flood stage here by next Friday. That was the report by the U. S. Weather Bureau last night in a revised forecast.

Earlier estimates set a crest of about 52.5 feet here.

The river was at 49.2 feet late last night and rising at about one-tenth foot an hour.

If it climbs past flood stage, it will be the first time for May since 1933, when the river reached 54.1 feet on May 15.

Council Delays Bid Acceptance

The Mayor and Council deferred action for one week Monday on the acceptance of a fire alarm control panel bid for the Fire Department.

Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan had recommended acceptance of the Gamewell Company bid which was $200 higher than that of the Safa-Alarm Division of the Py-Fighter Company. Keegan said he based his recommendation after a personal investigation, the fact the Gamewell equipment is used by local industry, the present Fire Department equipment was made by the same company, and its installation methods are more acceptable.

However, Earl Bruce, 554 Greene Street, Safa-Alarm representative, protested the recommendation and said his company meets all the requirements necessary. As a result the award was delayed for a week.

State Under Radiation After Attack

Western Maryland Hit By Activity From Pittsburgh

PIKESVILLE, Md.—All of Maryland except a few southeastern counties lay under a make-believe shroud of deadly radioactivity today after a simulated nuclear attack by enemy planes.

Maryland civil defense workers resumed the second 12 hours of the nation-wide CD drill at 10 a. m. this morning. The major problem in the 24-hour exercise was survival after a devastating nuclear attack.

After yesterday's exercises, CD officials estimated more than half of Baltimore and all of Annapolis lay in theoretical ruins. Preliminary casualty estimates included 175,292 dead and 53,992 injured in Baltimore City.

Another 663,000 Baltimoreans were evacuated from the city on paper before simulated enemy bombers dropped two 10-megaton H-bombs. The fate of these thousands were uncertain.

Western Maryland and the Eastern Shore escaped the fury of the simulated attack but lay under a deadly cloud of radioactivity which prevented any out-of-doors work.

Western Maryland supposedly received equally deadly doses of radiation from nuclear blasts at Pittsburgh and in the Ohio River of West Virginia.

The radioactive clouds presumably missed only the Eastern Shore counties of Wicomico, Worcester and Somerset and St. Mary's County in Southern Maryland because of the prevailing winds.

CD officials said the simulated radiation hazard from the six nuclear bombs which fell on the state was so great that survival was possible only by staying underground for nearly a week.

They noted that radiation from the simulated attack on Pittsburgh theoretically covered a 30-mile area between Hancock and Hagerstown. Three hours after the Pittsburgh blast, the radiation concentration in this area was estimated at 30 times the permissible dosage for class 1 CD workers—those who take high risks.

They noted that radiation from the simulated attack on Pittsburgh theoretically covered all of western and northern Maryland and Southern Maryland except for St. Mary's County. Likewise, make-believe radiation from the six Maryland surface blasts blanketed the Eastern Shore except for the lower three counties from Salisbury south.

Three hours after the pretend bombs fell, the radiation concentration in the Maryland area was estimated on paper at 30 times the permissible dosage for Class 1 CD workers—those who take high risks. The radiation was expected to remain at such high concentrations for most of the week, in most areas.

Manager Cites Hospital Need For Montgomery

ROCKVILLE, Md.—Montgomery County Manager M. L. Reese told the County Council Tuesday the need for a county-operated hospital is becoming increasingly apparent.

Reese said the county's three privately financed hospitals are not able to meet the needs of the increasing suburban population.

He said private capital apparently is not available to establish a fourth hospital and consequently county financing was being considered. He said he would make recommendations in the near future.

Patrol To Leave

CHARLESTON—A caravan of 32 buses will transport southern West Virginia's contingent of school patrols to the annual conclave in Washington this weekend.

Sen. Beall Backs Lease

WASHINGTON—An extension of the lease purchase program for government buildings was proposed Tuesday by Sen. J. Glenn Beall (R-Md.) as an aid to Baltimore's "Charles Center" redevelopment.

The lease purchase program, which expired last July, would be extended two years from that date under a bill offered by Beall.

Such an extension would provide additional time for planning a proposed 19-million-dollar federal office building which would be an important part of the redevelopment center.

Beall said the bill was offered after consultations with the Charles Center planners.
